Residents picket meet in protest of busing

By KAY DeBORD
Roman Staff Writer

Despite the pickets in the parking lot of the Romulus School District Administration Building, Monday night, it was "business as usual" for Romulus Board of Education members, who sailed through a shorter than usual agenda.

Picketing the board members were residents of two co-operative townhouse developments in Romulus who kicked off a recall petition drive affecting five of the seven board members.

'These children are not the only ones in the district being bused.'

The recall action is in protest of the busing of children living in the Wellesley and Birch Run Townhouses from nearby Cory and Romulus Elementary Schools to Beverly Elementary School.

THE BUSING action which was approved by the majority of the board in June affects 129 students.

Recall action is being taken against Board President Diane Boger, who made the original proposal; Gerald Budd, Ronald Christensen, Hulen Yates and Carl Morris.

Newest board member, Diane Chandler, was originally on the recall list, but was not included in the final petition drafted by the Stop Action Committee, composed of townhouse residents. She was not on the school board when the busing decision was made.

Another board member not listed on the petition was Jack Bath, who said his original negative vote was a matter of principle because he doesn't believe in younger elementary children being bused. He said he isn't against upper elementary students being bused.

BATH TOLD the Romulus Roman Monday that he told the recall petitioners that he does not support their action. He does not believe that the action of the board on the matter justifies recall.

He also told members of the Stop Action Committee that he wanted his name removed from any literature or signs relating to the recall.

Ginger Nash, spokesman for the recall group, told the Romulus Roman last week that many children had been bused to seven different schools in the past five years.

The board president said she had made the motion to bus all 129 children from the two townhouse developments because another proposal made at the same time would have split up youngsters from the same families.

"THESE CHILDREN are not the only ones in the district being bused," she said. Children from Harrison and Merriman Elementary Schools are being sent to Mt. Pleasant School.

"The decision was not made lightly, and we're not happy about it."

Board members cited the danger of the children crossing Wayne Road from their homes to school as one of the reasons for the busing.

Several of the mother-pickets said students going to Beverly School crossed Wayne Road to get to school.

"It's inconsistent," Mrs. Nash said.

James Garfield, assistant superintendent, speaking for the school administration, blamed the situation on the failure of two earlier building bond issues to be passed and the agreement on class size made with the Romulus Education Association which limits the number of students in classes.

THE SCHOOL building program under way should alleviate some of the crowding and the necessity for some of the busing, but construction will take an estimated two years from the passing of the bond issue, according to school administrators.

"The board has a right to assign children to schools in which they will get a good education and a school which is as near as possible to home whenever feasible," Morris said.

Voters' choice at polls pleases top contenders

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

The two mayoral candidates in the Nov. 6 general election were elated that the council candidates they backed for nomination made it through the August primary.

Both candidates — incumbent Hyle J. Carmichael, the veteran of four years in office, and challenger Terry L. Troutt, a former township supervisor and state senator — said a change on the council is needed for effective government in Romulus.

"I always have maintained that there is a need for change at the legislative level before Romulus is administered," Carmichael said. "And it looks like the voters agree."

"THEY GOT rid of three incumbents who caused many of the problems."

The three incumbents, Edmund Bizek Jr., Brookner Edwards and Ellis T. Pennington finished in the 15th through 17th spots in the primary election, and out of contention for a spot on the city council in the Nov. 6 general election.

All three ran with Romulus City Council President Jimmie C. Raspberry as a slate. Raspberry finished seventh in the balloting last week, only 319 votes behind the top candidate, William M. Oakley, who took the position with 1,242 votes.

The failure of the incumbent slate indicates that the voters are with us," Carmichael said. "And that belief of mine is strengthened when you consider the finish of the five people I backed in the primary."

CARMICHAEL'S entire five-man slate, including incumbents Oakley and Fred Junior Block, who finished second with 1,127 votes, were swept through the primary. Carmichael-backed Donald Treder finished fourth with 1,021 votes while Gilbert White at 889 and Perry C. Gray at 872 finished 11th and 12th respectively in the balloting.

Troutt said: "We intend to run on administration and council teamwork. We wanted to run a slate of new candidates who will bring fresh ideas to government."

The names of the entire Troutt slate will be on the November general election ballot.

Like Carmichael, Troutt was elated.

"THE OVERWHELMING nominations of the entire Troutt team council candidates indicates a definite new awareness by Romulus residents in response to the Troutt team's emphasis of efficient and reformed government," Troutt said.

"Likewise, the showing of the team candidates point out the citizens' desire for the many improvements pointed out during our campaign and their interest in our goal and dynamic platform for Romulus," he added. "The Troutt team is very pleased and thankful for the vote of confidence by Romulus residents who are convinced that the Troutt team is serious and extremely concerned for the future of our community.

"We shall continue with every resource available to us to keep our residents aware of the vital need for the rebirth of Romulus."

Romulus voters cut competition

Romulus voters reduced the number of contenders for the five city council seats in the Nov. 6 general election. The following is a list of candidates and their vote totals:

(Names to appear on the Nov. 6 general election ballot)

William M. Oakley - 1,242
Fred Junior Block - 1,127
Lung Coleman - 1,064
Donald J. Treder - 1,021
Joan A. Lee - 1,004
Robert H. Martin - 978
Jimmie C. Raspberry - 923
Jack H. Trumble - 906
Richard E. Butz - 904
James C. Stewart - 901
Gilbert E. White Jr. - 889
Perry Gray - 872
Dolores E. Ristow - 862
Beverly McAnally - 860

(Candidates out of the running)

Edmund W. Bizek - 802
Brookner R. Edwards - 734
Ellis T. Pennington - 715
Gervazio Canejo - 529
Barry T. Paumann - 524
Robert D. Plank - 520
Davis B. Draper - 486
John R. Ryznar - 439
Charles J. Dick Jr. - 390
Thomas B. Morris - 323

Construction up

Building requests skyrocket

Building permits requests skyrocketed in Romulus during July when Detroit Metropolitan Airport asked to spend $360,000 for remodeling and expansion of a concourse.

The Romulus Building Department issued 54 permits totaling $1.1 in construction in July.

Included in the total were four permits for $642,000 in industrial buildings.

Totals include two permits for single family homes, valued at $32,000, one permit for a demolition of a building, 15 permits for alterations to residential buildings, 15 permits for garages and carports, one permit for a non-residential building, two permits for signs, eight permits for swimming pools and five permits for trailer pads.

The new industrial buildings include a $416,000 trucking terminal, a new $100,000 office at Kelsey Hayes and a $125,000 addition to the Lincoln Park Boring Company.

Last month, the department issued 85 permits, although only $24,000 was designated for industrial expansion.

GOOD MICHIGAN HOT DOG — Terry Kurkhart, 11, isn't ashamed to show she's hungry as she bites into a juicy "red hot" during the recent Romulus election.

During election

Clerk praises workers

Election workers in last Tuesday's primary election turned in a "yeoman's performance" to get the returns, according to Romulus City Clerk Leonard Folmar.

"Thirty-nine minutes was all it took for the returns to be counted in the 15 precincts we had to check and on the two absentee voters counting boards we had set up," Folmar said. "It shows we had an excellent corps of helpers working on the election."

Folmar said the unofficial returns in the election were all called into the clerk's office by 8:45 p.m., with the first precinct to call in returns making the call at 8:06 p.m.

"THAT'S PRETTY good work, especially when you consider some cities around us didn't have complete returns until 9:30 p.m. or later Tuesday and their ballots were less cluttered than ours. I'm proud of the election workers."

Folmar said 85 residents of the city helped check the tallies in each of the precincts and on the counting boards this year.

And those 85 made only one mistake in their count.

ONE CANDIDATE was given 20 votes in the unofficial tallies rather than the 10 he actually received from the precinct calling in the returns.

"The Board of Canvassers were amazed at the accuracy," Folmar said.

"It took them six hours to check the returns the day after the election, and they could only turn up one mistake in that time," he added. "Considering the pressure the people were under after working from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. election day—and the pressure of getting the tallies together so the people could find out the unofficial returns—the performance was outstanding."

Some 33 percent of Romulus' 10,700 voters turned out to vote in the primary election Aug. 7—a percentage in excess of voter turnout in surrounding communities.

FOLMAR ATTRIBUTES the relatively high turn-out to Romulus voters' community concern.

"When only 16 per cent of the voters turned out in other communities, and 33 per cent of Romulus residents vote, you know the voters take pride in how their city is operated," he said.

Folmar said the clerk's office will be working between the Aug. 7 primary and the Nov. 6 general election to insure that even more voters have the right to franchise. Residents 18 years of age and older have until Oct. 6 to register to vote for the general election.

"We will be deputizing concerned residents during that time to handle and facilitate registrations for the balloting which will determine how the city will be run for the next two years," Folmar said.

Weed commissioner gets to 'root' of problem

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

Weed raisers of Romulus beware. Stan Kochanoski is on duty.

Kochanoski has taken over the duties of the city's weed commissioner—a part-time job limited generally to the late summer, when the weed problem is at its worst.

It's Kochanoski's job to make sure that weeds in the community, especially those weeds which produce a large amount of pollen and other irritating substances, are kept in check.

"WE'VE BEEN able to clean up quite a bit of property so far," said the veteran of four weeks on the job. "But having a new position, we can only rely on calls and some inspection to check out the real problems in the community."

"Right now, my biggest job is to let the people know that there is a weed ordinance, which says weeds must be cut, and then to try to enforce it," he said.

'Right now my biggest job is to let the people know that there is a weed ordinance.'

Kochanoski has the power to order the removal of noxious weeds from anyone's property and to levy fines of up to $100 if the property owner refuses.

He said he attempts to handle his task courteously.

"WE TRY TO inform the people first—give them a chance to cut their weeds—before we take the drastic step of removing them ourselves," he explained.

"The costs can get pretty steep if we have to work, because we can fine up to the $100 limit and can charge the property owner for the work of cutting down weeds," he added. "It's a lot easier on everyone if the owner cooperates."

"I'm confident a vast majority will, if notified of the rules, cooperate voluntarily."

Kochanoski said he is attempting to get into the routine of his job this summer and is handling mostly telephone complaints about weeds.

"I GET OUT, but the biggest thing is to let the people know that weeds can cause problems and should be cut according to the law," he said. "If I get a complaint, I generally phone a local property owner and tell him of the complaint and inform him that he should get the weeds down."

"After that, I give him some time, and if they still aren't down, I have it done."

Kochanoski is limited in his powers. He can't spend more than $25 on cutting weeds without the mayor's permission, according to the weed commissioner ordinance recently adopted by the council.

He is often given power by the mayor, however.

"WE TRY TO keep on top of it the weed problem, but it's difficult sometimes, especially when it's a large piece of vacant property which causes the problem," he said.

"If I don't know the property owner, I have to check through the tax books, and find out who he is," he added. "Then I call him, if he lives in a reasonable distance from the city, or write him by registered mail if he lives too far away."

"After that, if I get no response, it's up to me to get the weeds down, because they are a health and safety hazard in the community if allowed to grow without check."

Next year should be easier, Kochanoski said.

"By then, I'll have the groundwork laid, and the people will know what they have to do," he added. "Then I'll have time to go out and trouble shoot on my own."

"WITH THE ordinance, and my powers, I have set a goal of getting rid of all the phone complaints on weeds in the future."

"With a little work, and a lot of cooperation, I may make it."

Township plans park day to celebrate new facility

A day of fun and sun is in store for Van Buren Township residents Saturday with the opening celebration for a new township park.

Actually, the park itself is not new. Edison Pointe Park, a 101-acre recreational site located on the north shore of Belleville Lake has been the summer recreational site for Edison employees for a number of years.

The Detroit Edison Co., the present park owner, and township attorneys are currently preparing legal papers and records on the ownership transfer of both the lake and park to the township.

The proposed open house of the park will be held from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The event will permit residents to see and possibly purchase trailers that Edison employees are selling.

The park currently has 120 trailers located in the trailer section of the park. The number of trailers will be reduced by sale or removal by a phase-out program. It is expected that all will be out of the park by the 1975 summer season.

The open house will also give residents an opportunity to voice their ideas on proposed recreational activities and programs.

CELEBRATING A NEW BANK BRANCH — An area official joined banking officials recently when National Bank of Detroit opened the Lakewood Center office in Van Buren Township. On hand for the opening ceremonies were: (left) Keith O. Millar, assistant vice president of NBD's Metro South Regional Banking Center; Harry Lapham, vice president of all area NBD offices; G.

Elton Gollwitzer, Van Buren Township Supervisor, who opened the first account; Robert Heinrich, manager of the Lakewood Center; and Olin Wyman, member of the bank's Belleville-Romulus Committee. The new facility at I-94 and Rawsonville Road is open Monday through Thursday from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. and until 6 p.m.

Director expands curriculum goals

An increase in vocational education offerings for girls attending Van Buren Public Schools will be one of the major goals of the school district's new director of instruction.

Douglas D. Brown, 44, said he plans to begin working on this as well as to change the school's social studies programs to take them out of the classroom and give them a chance to work in municipal government.

Brown, former assistant principal at the Belleville High School, is to start his new position this week.

Any expansion of vocational education program would necessitate additional funds, probably from a voter-approved bonding proposal.

The new director of instruction hopes to see a cosmetology program added to the current vocational center located on Sumpter Road.

The center now offers courses in automotive repair and welding but has additional space that could accommodate new educational programs.

A revision of the social studies program is a way to use community resources, Brown said. If students could help in the township halls and city halls, he explains, they "would benefit from getting some first-hand information about the governmental process."

He would also like to see the school district initiate programs in medical service professions, such as nurses aides and food distribution and restaurant operation. "This kind of experience, as opposed to classroom experience, would make the student more aware—it's more than the textbook approach for understanding government and other endeavors," Brown added.

Moms, daughters take part in 'Y' Indian program

The "squaws" of Indian Guide members will not have to sit home minding the teepee anymore.

The area YMCA is initiating a new program this year called Indian Maidens. Modeled after the YMCA's popular Indian Guides, it brings mothers and daughters together on a regular basis for fun and special activities.

Moms and their five to 9 year old daughters meet twice a month, free of charge to YMCA family members.

Club sponsors course to aid hunter's safety

A hunter safety class held by the sponsorship of the Huron Township Sportsman's Club will run Sept. 22 and 23 at the Sportsman Hall grounds, located at Sterling and Huron River Dr., New Boston.

Registration for the class will begin at 8 a.m. and the class will get underway at 9 a.m. The hunter safety class will be under the director of gun instructor Harry Munion.

Persons aged 11 years old and over are eligible to attend the class. The class admission cost $1 per person.

The club is also sponsoring a donkey ball game at 6 p.m. Aug. 26 It will be played on the club's field at Sterling and Huron River Drive.

The tickets are $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children ages six to 14. For further information on the game call Vern Moore at 753-9388.

DOROTHY MURPHY of Westland has been appointed program coordinator of the Indian Maiden project and other YMCA activities including pre-schooler fitness programs, and travelogues. Mrs. Murphy has had extensive experience in working with youth through the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council and Kirk of Our Savior Presbyterian Church.

The fitness program for pre-schoolers has been revised to include a wide range of activities designed to develop large and small muscle coordination as well as balance and self confidence.

REGISTRATIONS are being accepted for the first eight-week session set to begin Sept. 10. Classes meet twice per week on either Monday and Wednesday or Tuesday and Thursday from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. The fee for the 16 sessions is $25 for YMCA members and $30 for non-members.

Dog gripes total 284

Complaints involving dogs totaled 284 during July.

The complaints related to violations of various provisions of the township's dog ordinance.

Investigation resulted in the issuance of 142 dog licenses, 142 dogs were impounded and 48 returned to their owners.

Compensatory program to continue at schools

Three of the most effective compensatory programs in the Romulus School District will be continued this September or expanded, according to Lorena G. Burton, federal and state director of the programs.

They are Chapter Three, Title I and Head Start programs. Chapter Three is funded through the state department of education. The Wayne County Intermediate School District is providing the funding for the Title I and Head Start programs.

The Chapter Three program is directed to the low or non-achieving students in grades kindergarten through six, offering additional help in the areas of reading and arithmetic in addition to the regular classroom curriculum.

THE PROGRAM operates in all eight elementary schools in the district and new kindergarten enrollees will be tested and identified through screening tests given in September.

In order to involve parents, teachers and citizens, administrators and school board members, the program operates with the assistance of a Policy Advisory Council, first organized in 1968.

Students in the Beverly, Gordonier, Harrison and Romulus elementary schools—areas that have been identified as having 10 per cent of the population economically disadvantaged—will receive additional money for the Title I program.

Regulars lose bid for seat

McAnally finished 13th and 14th respectively.

Fewer than 400 votes separated the top 14 candidates in the election, with Oakley garnering 1,242 to take the first spot in the polling, and Mrs. McAnally taking 860 for the 14th spot.

Other than the two Carmichael-backed incumbents, those incumbents finishing in the running for the Nov. 6 election—Raspberry and Stewart—may have a tough time in the general election.

Veteran election observers said the slate candidates have the best chance to take office in the general election.

“THE INDEPENDENTS will be looking for some backing,” said one election watcher. “The slates made such a good showing that no other avenue is left open to them.”

Three Carmichael-backed candidates and three Trout backed candidates made it through the balloting in the top spots with Raspberry finishing seventh. Only 329 votes separate those seven and 392 votes separate the top 14 candidates.

Residents picket meeting

“In this particular case, the distance between the home and Beverly School clearly fits this category.”

THE RECALL committee made up of 23 members, residents of the two townhouse developments, will need 1,298 signatures on the petitions to get the recall on the ballot for the Nov. 6 general election.

Mrs. Nash denied a statement attributed to her in a story appearing in last week's Romulus Roman.

The statement said that she was informed by the Michigan Civil Rights Commission that the city is racially unbalanced and that the children of the townhouse residents were being used to correct that balance.

Monday she said the two townhouse developments were racially integrated.

The Title I program concept is similar to that covered by the Chapter Three program, according to Mrs. Burton.

THE PROGRAM incorporates the use of trained para-professionals to tutor primary pupils on a one-to-one basis, working under the supervision of the classroom teacher and the school principal, to help with deficiencies in reading and arithmetic.

The Head Start program has been funded this year to service 75 youngsters under the age of five who meet the guidelines making them eligible to participate.

The Head Start staff is already recruiting additional children and are involved in pre-service training programs for the parents of the children involved.

Some parents will work at the Head Start Center as volunteers and others as para-professionals.

THE ROMULUS Head Start Center is considered both a community and concept facility, according to Mrs. Burton. It works to draw together all the resources—family, community and professionals—all of whom contribute to the total development of the child.

It draws heavily on the professional skills of those in nutrition, health education, psychology, social work and recreation, in both paid and volunteer capacities, Mrs. Burton said.

The program is organized around both classroom and playground activities and health services, parent interviews and counseling are provided. Snacks and lunches are provided for the participating youngsters, Mrs. Burton said.

In addition, the curriculum offers many things for the children to work with which stimulate exploration, creation, organization, questioning, verbal expression and physical skills.

THERE ARE adults and older young people taking part who protect, provide, give affection, restrain, encourage and constantly, in a variety of ways, open up new worlds to children.

To be eligible, children must be five years old by Dec. 1, and their family income level must meet requirements, taking into consideration family size.

For additional information on the programs, contact Mrs. Burton at the Romulus Board of Education Office, 941-1600, ext. 29, or write Mrs. Lorena G. Burton in care of the Romulus Board of Education, 36540 Grant Rd., Romulus 48174.

Romulus resident dies in E. Tawas

A longtime resident of Romulus who became the old township's first Ford dealer, died Aug. 7 at his cottage near East Tawas.

Garnett A. Bunnell, 63, came to Romulus when he was seven years old and graduated from Romulus High School in 1928.

After attending Adrian College, Bunnell and a brother opened the first Ford dealership in Romulus, a family enterprise they operated until 1959.

Prior to his illness, he owned and operated the Econo Laundromat in Romulus. He also served as Romulus justice of peace, 1939-40.

Bunnell was the son of Rev. Alford and Caroline Bunnell. The deceased's father was pastor of Wesley Methodist Church at Five Points.

He was united in marriage in 1935 with the former Stella Szucs of Belleville.

Bunnell was a charter member of the People's Community Hospital Authority from 1945 to 1950 and was a member of the Romulus Rotary for 33 years, serving as president, 1958-59. Until his recent illness, he had maintained a 30-year-plus perfect attendance record with the Rotary.

He also was a member of the Romulus Coffee Club, and the Hiawatha Sportsman Club.

Survivors include his wife, Stella; sons, Ronald of Belleville, and Rev. Robert Bunnell of Marysville, Ind.; daughters, Janet Haas of Dearborn, and Carol of Denver, Colo.; a brother,

Life is what you want

Surgery gives back 'good years'

By DON HOENSHELL
Lansing Bureau Chief

CLEVELAND—Nobody who loves to chase fire engines and pour copy down a wire can slow down even after two heart attacks impale him to the sedentary life.

The mind and the desire keep pace but the body lags behind, fearful of that spear in the chest again.

That light jab under the breast bone while crossing the capitol parking lot in the autumn wind is a reminder. And you wait for an elevator when darting up the stairs would be quicker.

NOW THERE is a surgical way to get back the good years when life was what you wanted it to be.

Talented heart specialists can use the electrocardiograph, blood pressure scales, the heartbeat, telltale indications from blood samples and other techniques, but they are essentially blindfolded.

'The mind and the desire keep pace but the body lags behind, fearful of that spear in the chest again.'

They can determine that damage has occurred, its extent and location but before 1958 they were stymied in efforts to measure the blockage of the three major heart arteries. There was no clearcut warning of trouble ahead.

That was the year that Dr. F. Mason Sones, a Cleveland cardiologist, completed years of research under the Cleveland Clinic Foundation with the development of cine coronary angiography.

THE TECHNIQUE involves inserting a catheter into an artery in the arm, jockeying it delicately to the aorta, then spraying dye into the arteries. X-ray motion pictures provide a map of the cardiovascular system showing where and how much each of the arteries is blocked.

From these maps, the medical men and the surgeons diagnose the trouble in terms of percentages (The Sones technique is 90 per cent accurate, the identical effectiveness rate of the vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas Salk which eliminated polio in the 1950s).

"I've got some good news and some bad news," a doctor said later.

"All three of your arteries have some blockage. But the blockages are in excellent positions for surgery and there is good distal runoff."

IT WAS TO be open heart surgery and I was lucky.

There are four ways to go home after cine coronary angiography. The lucky ones will have more years to chase more fire engines, to play golf or to climb a mountain.

Under 50 per cent blockage, no surgery needed and no medicines required, only a better diet and the realization that the old plumbing is still good if only properly maintained.

Between 50 and 70 per cent blockage, the possibility that chest pains can be medically controlled. It's up to the patient whether to undergo surgery.

Blockage of 70 per cent or more in areas which can be bypassed to improve the blood supply. This is the delightful diagnosis that surgery can fix the pump.

Blockage of up to 100 per cent in areas which cannot be corrected by surgery or controlled effectively by pills.

THERE IS AN enchanting psychological game at the point of catheterization and the heart's performance before the X-Ray motion picture cameras called: "Don't look at your right arm."

First there is the ubiquitous "shot to make you sleepy," then a doctor adds another of novacaine in the arm.

Then, outside the X-Ray room, there is a pretty young girl on the left to distract you with conversation—sports, weather, politics, Phase IV, you name it...

"There, that's the only pain you'll feel," she concludes.

THERE HAD BEEN a slight pricking sensation, like digging out a sliver with a needle. Nothing more.

Under the X-Ray cameras, there is a temptation to sneak a look at the right arm, to see what's going on. But, again, off to the left is a closed circuit television monitor showing the events inside.

To the irreverent, it might be likened to a World War II troop movie depicting the hazards of being too friendly with ladies of the night.

During the filming and the spreading of the dye, there was an occasional sensation of heat, but no pain.

THERE ARE NO surprises at Cleveland. Patients are told what to expect before every event ("You'll get a small stinging sensation here" or "Take a deep breath and hold it, we're removing a tube.")

Afterward, the still-numb right arm is stitched and a bandage is placed and you go back to your room. There follows a feeling of relief and some giddiness and the idea comes that through some magic things are going to be better than they have been for five years.

Sometime later the doctor arrives with his bad news, and some good news. He explains everything and gives you the choice, surgery in my case, or not, with all the potentials made clear.

The brightest prospect in the world at that moment was surgery in another five weeks and, after that, a swim for distance, a little badminton with the kids, or...

Hark, could that be a fire engine?

KICKING THE HABIT — No, not the smoking habit like in the television commercials. Daily-Eagle Lansing Bureau Chief Don Hoenshell has kicked the pain "habit" after recent heart surgery. He has gotten back "the good years when life was what you wanted it to be."

We can succeed

National confidence must be resurrected

Knowledgeable authorities in Western Wayne County warn that policies and attitudes must be changed if we wish to avoid severe economic and social disruptions of major national proportions—disruptions with worldwide repercussions.

The stakes are high. The problem is that we don't seem to believe in our own golden goose. Anyone who impunes the character, motives or performance of American business has an instant rapt audience ready to believe the worst.

Opinion polls indicate that most people have a pretty low opinion of business performance, regardless of how good that performance may be in terms of supplying jobs, paying taxes for the support of government, protecting the environment, working for community betterment, promoting fair employment practices or providing job training for the handicapped or undereducated. It doesn't matter. No one believes business.

Commenting on this, the president of one of the nation's major aerospace manufacturing concerns has said, "Unless this wave of recrimination, of witch hunting, of 'Off-With-His-Head' is stopped, industry will eventually grind to a halt."

Scoff at the integrity of the Board of Directors, impugn the experience of management, slow down the production line, let low productivity force the imposition of a $10 price tag on a $7 product, frighten the shareholders into becoming ex-shareholders, and soon the witch hunt will be over. Industry will be permanently crippled. We've already heard distant rumblings in the deficit balance-of-payments situation.

Right now, America is fighting for its share of international trade in a world market supplied by nations just as smart and oftentimes a good deal more efficient in their production than we are.

At the same instant, there are hundreds of bills in state legislatures and major proposals in the Congress of the United States designed to further restrict the legitimate development of practically every enterprise that you can name. The effect is to increase the cost of American production and decrease the flow of innovation, progress and technical achievement that has been the lifeblood of American "know-how"—something which, up to now, has been in demand around the world.

Federal legislation is proposed which would, for example, establish arbitrary standards for the dismemberment of industrial and business enterprises, if they are considered to be too big, regardless of whether they are doing any wrong.

Other legislation is proposed to severely penalize the U.S. corporation that operates overseas, owning, for example, major manufacturing facilities. Yet these "multinational" or "multi-industry" companies have enabled the United States to compete in foreign markets. They have made money for the U.S. and created tens of millions of jobs both here and abroad. It doesn't make sense, does it?

Still, all is not so grim. If we can learn from the past and heed the signs that are plainly before us, we can go on as a nation and a leader in world events to greater achievements than we have ever before imagined. We must quit glorifying the high cost of our products. Workers who say they could produce more if they tried must decide to try.

We must understand and appreciate our scientific achievements, our superlative technology, whose crowning achievement in this decade was to place man's footprints on the surface of a new world.

We must have faith and confidence in our system, in our freedom and in the essential rightness and effectiveness of private enterprise and the competitive marketplace.

As the industry spokesmen emphasize, there must be a "restoration of national confidence, an increase in national productivity, and the focusing of national determination."

We must convince those who doubt... that the nation can do anything it chooses if the project is defined, if it is given top national priority, if there is stability over the development period, if there is adequate funding, and if we have the high level of productivity of which our people are capable. With these assured, this nation can succeed beyond its greatest expectations."

REMEMBER WHEN — War Plant traffic, like this one on Rawsonville Road, jammed existing roads while the Willow Run Expressway (now I-94) was under construction in 1941 and 1942. At shift changes at the Ford bomber plant, more than 8,000 autos and some 140 buses moved in and out of the plant parking lots, merging with the 2,500 vehicles per hour already using the highways serving the area — 31 years ago.

Willow Run plant and expressway churned out bombers of victory

Hailed as 'Arsenal of Democracy'

By MITCH KEHETIAN
Editor

Thirty-one years ago in the summer of 1942, the world was at war... American troops were arriving in North Africa — and in the Pacific to stem the Japanese island-advance.

That year in history saw Michigan enter the freeway era — a freeway system known then as the Willow Run Expressway, and designed to provide access to the sprawling Ford Motor victory bomber plant near Ypsilanti.

What significance would Michigan's freeway era have with the victory ear effort? Just ask any old-timer who toiled in the defense effort at the Willow Run bomber plant of World War II.

STILL BETTER, we'll attempt to cover some of the highlights that led to the accelerated building of the Willow Run Expressway — a pathway slicing through Western Wayne County when driving from downtown Detroit to Romulus and Belleville was termed a "journey" for some.

While much credit in the war effort goes to the men and women who worked at the old bomber plant, history says nothing of the men who built the Willow Run Expressway in less than 11 months.

Seven days and nights a week the men worked on the expressway — their tanks were earth-moving bulldozers.

The task was to build Michigan's first limited access facility with no grade-level intersections and no traffic lights to slow the movement of bomber-plant bound workers.

AND TOGETHER they enabled thousands of war plant workers to drive easily from their homes in Detroit to Ford's River Rouge industrial complex and to the bomber plant further west to Western Wayne's county line.

While the construction moved along 24 hours a day, the Willow Run bomber plant began to rise from the flat farmland east of Ypsilanti.

The first bulldozer to crack the earth was in the early fall of 1941 — several months before that Day of Infamy at Pearl Harbor.

By the summer of 1942 the expressway was taking form... and at about the same time the British halted the Germans at El Alamein, the Japanese eastward march was blown to bits at the Battle of Midway, and the Germans were mounting their first attack on Stalingrad — the battle that broke the Nazi sweep into the Soviet Union.

NOW THE BATTLE scene was "... there is good news tonight," as Allied Forces took to the offensive — and the role of the Willow Run bomber plant became vital to the American air attack strategy in Europe.

The bomber plant had its own army... a civilian army of more than 42,000 men and women in the production of B-24 Liberator bombers for the Army Air Force.

And for defense purposes, the plant was built in the then quiet countryside of Washtenaw and Western Wayne County.

By Sept. 12, 1942 the 14-mile expressway was open to Detroit's city limits — only 11 months after it was begun, and in time to carry workers to the nearly completed $100 million bomber plant.

AND FROM the bomber plant, which was to be the world's largest industrial plant under one roof, came Michigan's war-time role as the "Arsenal of Democracy."

When word spread that the bomber plant was

"The bomber plant had its own army...a civilian army of more than 42,000 men and women in the production of B24 bombers for the Army Air Force."

humming with victory defense work, thousands of sight-seekers flocked onto the expressway causing havoc for bomber plant employees. Traffic finally had to be limited to plant and construction workers.

To celebrate the opening of the bomber plant, and completion of the Willow Run expressway — joint ceremonies were held...including the attendance of Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson, Henry and Edsel Ford, Army generals and Michigan Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner.

By now the bomber plant was swinging into full production...with no complaints of "line speed-ups."

Before the bomber plant was shut down in mid-1945, it turned out 8,685 bombers — more than any other aircraft plant in the nation.

THE B-24 LIBERATOR, flown by Army pilots of the U.S. Eighth Air Force favored pin-point bombing of German installations in Europe — while the British pursued saturation bombing at night.

In addition to flying the Liberator heavy bombers, Eighth Air Force men flew the Flying Fortress — and the Thunderbolt, Lightning and Mustang fighters.

At the beginning, Hermann Goering, commander-in-chief of the German Luftwaffe had boasted American bombers would never reach Berlin. But they did...and they even went further to destroy the rich oil fields at Ploesti, Romania.

Gen. Henry H. Arnold, commanding general of our air force units in Europe, in writing about five consecutive days of bombing of key German targets in late February, 1944, said "those five days changed the history of the air war."

During the course of the air war, American pilots flew about 75,000 bombing missions in Europe — hitting the enemy with three million tons of bombs.

SEVERAL MONTHS AGO, while workmen were draining a marsh lake in Belgium for farming purposes, they found a B-24 Liberator resting on the bottom of the shallow marsh lake — a bomber built out at the old Willow Run plant...and its skeletal pilot.

Though this brief flashback to the days when bombers were being built at the Willow Run plant may seem dusty newspaper history of another era — it still plays a significant role in our American heritage.

In a few days this nation observes its 197th birthday, and to the credit of the men and women who built the Willow Run Expressway and the B-24 Liberators at the bomber plant — we observe another Fourth of July.

Now the state is tearing up the 14-mile stretch of the aging Willow Run Expressway and to build a new modern-day freeway...and General Motors Corporation builds transmissions at the old bomber plant.

CONSTRUCTION on the aging expressway began last summer, and once completed, the $8 million reconstructed freeway...from Haggerty Road east to Ozga Road in Romulus will provide a western by-pass of Detroit — via the new I-275 Freeway.

Additional reconstruction is taking place west to Rawsonville Road at the Western Wayne-Washtenaw county line.

Absence of steel mesh is the main reason some sections of the Willow Run Expressway require re-surfacing. "Despite this, the expressway performed its war-time duty with great effectiveness and has served Michigan well in the intervening years," state highway officials repeat.

And today, the Willow Run and Detroit Industrial expressways are part of the I-94 Freeway, which runs from Port Huron west to the Indiana border at New Buffalo and on to Billings, Montana.

IF THE INCONVENIENCE of motoring through construction sections of old Willow Run Expressway got to you this summer, remember the old battered concrete super-highway aided in getting workers to the "Arsenal of Democracy" bomber plant.

Since the fall of 1941, Michigan has built more than 1,400 miles of freeways — and it doesn't cost one penny to use the state's vast freeway system.

And it started with a 14-mile stretch through Western Wayne County...a stretch of concrete that made it possible for 8,685 B-24 Liberator bombers to carry the victory payload in the European Theater during World War II.

Questions 'sewer' bond project

To the editor: As a taxpayer of the city of Belleville, I have an uneasy feeling about recent developments!

For years, we have wanted street improvements in the city but couldn't get them. Now suddenly, for no apparent reason, we have a big issue of bonds to pave the streets. We also just happen to have $550,000 in General obligation bonds to do sewer work. What sewer work?

General obligation means I help pay. Before voting, I had no idea that the sewer work would include a new 15-inch sewer over Mayor Smith's property in the direction of new developments (mostly trailer parks). Is there another trailer park in our future? I don't feel like subsidizing new developments with my tax money!

drainage project is being financed by a $1,745,000 bond issue which will be paid off by special assessments levies in the areas benefited. A portion of the new improvement will be paid off by the city's general obligations bond funds for street intersections, public alleys entrances and side lot lines.

The voters approved the new street paving and storm drainage program by a six to one vote margin in the city's recent election.

Forty eight per cent of the new bond issue will finance storm drainage and the balance for street paving, Mayor Smith said.

The mayor also stated that no sewer was going through his 3-acre land parcel located at East Columbia Ave. and the Norfolk and Western Railroad unless the township is a participant in any city-township sewer project involving the area. He added that the city sewer is located nearby on East Columbia.

"Personally I'd rather it wouldn't. I would have to give away a 20 foot strip along the north lot line of the land site," Smith told the Enterprise Roman.

Editor's Note: The city's general obligation bond fund is for city-at-large projects and presently none of the fund is being expended for sewers, Mayor Royce E. Smith said.

The city's new and large street paving and Area motorists will get no-fault insurance notice from state

About 300,000 Michigan motor vehicle owners are getting their prepared license applications early this year. In fact, they're in the mail right now, even though the applications can't be used until the customary time in mid-autumn when the 1974 license plate tabs will go on sale.

They're being mailed early in connection with a special early warning effort to inform uninsured motorists that they've got to start shopping around right now for "no-fault" auto insurance. Secretary of State Richard H. Austin said "Even though these vehicle owners paid the 'uninsured motorist' fee at the time they bought their license plates last year, they are now obliged to obtain new no-fault auto insurance by Oct. 1. If they don't, they won't be able to operate their vehicles legally after that date."

ANYONE FAILING to comply with the new no-fault insurance requirement is subject to a $500 fine if apprehended. Austin offered to make the special early mailing to help the Michigan Insurance Information Council in the campaign to advise every motorist in the state of the provisions in the state's new no-fault auto insurance law. A notice is included with each prepared application form, giving an outline of the no-fault system, warning of the Oct. 1 deadline, and urging the uninsured motorist to contact an insurance representative immediately. No-fault auto insurance is the new Michigan system whereby your own insurance company pays you regardless of who was at fault in an accident.

COLLISION coverage for damage to your motor vehicle, fire and theft coverage, and various other coverages are optional extras. The basic no-fault coverage involves hospital and medical benefits, income protection, and certain property damage allowances.

to minimize the costs. The only vehicle exempted from the mandatory no-fault insurance law are two-wheeled trailers and motorcycles.

In the fall, the remaining five million or more motor vehicle owners will receive their prepared applications at the customary time. Austin said they, too, will receive a notice about no-fault, although it will be somewhat different in content.

He said: "These vehicle owners, who our records show as already insured, will simply be advised that their present coverages will automatically convert to no-fault when the deadline comes."

THEIR ONLY concern is likely to be with respect to optional coverages. We suggest they talk with their regular insurance representatives to decide what they want to carry."

Austin said that the warning notice was combined with the mailing of the prepared applications for two primary reasons: first, to increase the impact of the notice. He commented, "If it arrived as a separate flyer, it might well be put aside unread, or at least unstudied." A second reason for combining the mailing was

Driving costs get expensive

With today's inflationary economy, it shouldn't come as a surprise to Michigan's six million motorists that the cost of owning and operating a car has increased 14 per cent the past four years, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"It now costs state motorists 16.5 cents a mile to operate their cars compared to 14.5 cents per mile in 1969," Auto Club Touring Manager Joseph Ratke said.

"For the motorist who drives 10,000 miles annually, his operating costs in 1973 will jump to $1,647, a rise of approximately $200 in four years," Ratke said.

AN AUTO driven 20,000 miles will cost its owner $2,247, or roughly 11.2 cents per mile driven. The reason for the lower cents-per-mile figure at 20,000 miles is that fixed costs (insurance, depreciation and license fees) are basically the same as for 10,000 miles.

Figures on owning and operating an automobile are contained in the 1973-74 issue of the AAA pamphlet, "Your Driving Costs."

According to the report, motorists can figure an additional .15-cent-per-mile and 20-cents-per-day increase for air conditioning.

The report shows the total per-mile cost for an eight-cylinder, standard-size car equipped with automatic transmission, power steering, power brakes and radio was computed at 5.25 cents; for an intermediate car similarly equipped at 4.95 cents, and for a compact equipped with radio and automatic transmission at 4.20 cents.

FIXED COSTS were $1,365 for the standard car, $1,177 for the intermediate and $1,040 for the compact.

"On the basis of 10,000 miles driven annually, total costs (fixed and variable) for the intermediate would be $218 lower than the standard model and $430 less for the compact," Ratke said.

The report also shows that vacation costs for two people have increased 32 per cent in four years.

It now costs two persons traveling by car $52 daily as compared to $39.50 in 1969.

The daily figure is based on 300 miles of daily travel, with the car averaging 13 miles per gallon of gasoline.

Jaycees will host tours

The Ypsilanti Area Jaycee Auxiliary will be hosting its Fourth Annual Home Tour from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sept. 15.

Proceeds from "this community service project" will be used for the auxiliary's dental fund. This dental fund will enable any Ypsilanti area child who is unable to afford the cost of a dentist to receive emergency care.

Eight Ypsilanti area homes will be visited during the tour. Tickets will be punched at the entrance to each home. The home tour is open to anyone over 12 years old.

For further information contact Pat Kelsey, publicity chairman, at 485-4171. Tickets may be purchased from auxiliary members.

Area physician survives gun battle in Greek port

An area physician found himself in the heat of a gun battle recently when Arab terrorists attacked the airplane he was about to embark on in Athens, Greece.

Dr. Gus Petropoulos, a physician in charge of the emergency room at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, was one of 21 survivors in a misguided attack by the Arabs recently.

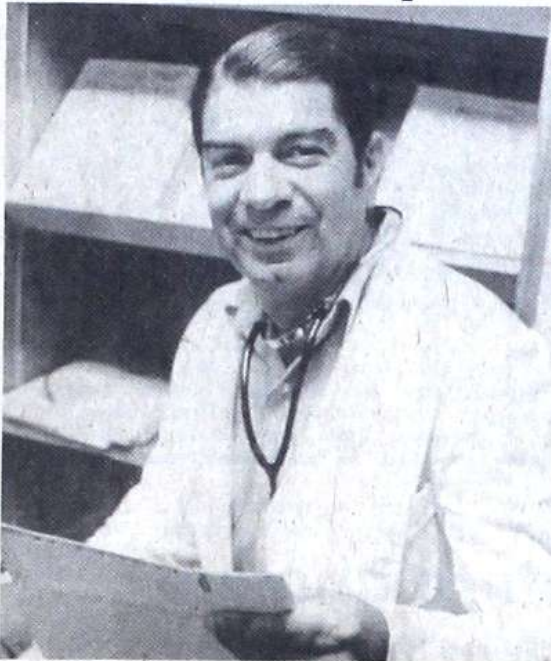

As he tells the story: "I WAS WAITING in line to board a Trans World Airline (TWA) flight for New York City which was set to take off at 3:30 p.m."

"About 3:10 p.m. there was a sudden explosion, followed shortly thereafter by a burst of gunfire from automatic weapons."

International investigators speculate that the terrorists received their arms from collaborators in the airport, but they opened fire on the wrong people.

ALLEGEDLY, their mission was to attack TWA passengers heading for Tel Aviv, Israel, but due to the confusion, they attacked travelers whose destination was New York City.

"As soon as we heard the initial explosions and ensuing gunfire we all hit the ground and absolute panic broke out in the boarding area."

SURVIVOR OF TERRORIST ATTACK — Arab terrorists mistakenly attacked passengers bound for New York instead of Tel Aviv at the Athens, Greece airport last week. The physician in charge of Annapolis Hospital's Emergency Room, Gus Petropoulos, was waiting in line to board a TWA plane when the terrorists attacked.

I was carrying my first aid case, but was forced to use it as a shield. I could not get to the victims because the Arabs threw three more hand grenades and then began to shoot again," he said.

The terrorists took 35 people captive, but when police reinforcements arrived the Arabs realized they had failed in their mission and they gave up the hostages and their weapons.

DR. PETROPOULOS was able to take pictures of the prisoners as they were being taken away by the Greek police.

"As an Emergency Room physician," he said, "I'm used to desperate situations. But this is one I would just as soon not experience again."

Guests from Colorado, Virginia visit in area

MRS. JUANITA Akers of Liberty Street is entertaining her son, Roy Akers and children from Venice, Virginia. This week they are vacationing near Gaylord, Michigan.

MR. AND MRS. Lloyd Orr of Harmony Lane were in Cheboygan this weekend visiting the former's brother and family, the Kenneth Ors. This week-end also has special meaning for them, they are celebrating their wedding anniversary. Congratulations, Lloyd and Betty.

EDMUND J. WARNER of Palm Spring, Colorado arrived Monday to visit his aunt, Mrs. Doreen Post. While in Michigan he visited his mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller in Colon, Michigan before flying on to Akron, Ohio.

MRS. EDNA Adams, formerly of Liberty Street, has moved and is now living at 703 S. Rogers Street, Apartment No. 1, Mason, Michigan 48854.

THIS PAST Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schaal and Mr. and Mrs. Gaal Young drove to the Irish Hills where they visited the beautiful Hidden Gardens and the Saint Joseph Shrine.

MRS. CORA Bradshaw of Bedell Street has returned home after spending two weeks in the north country. While gone she visited a few days at the Rockwell cottage on Grand Traverse Bay, then spent the balance of her time with Mrs. Mae Fielder and Tom at their cottage on Mullet Lake.

MRS. MERTIE Schaefer of N. Biggs Street has received word that her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Uchman are now living in Garland, Texas where Mr. Uchman is Associate Warden in the Federal Prison.

MRS. GEORGE Maki, daughter Linda, and a friend Linda Maton, were in Des Plaines, Illinois recently visiting Mrs. Maki's mother and her sister and husband. While in Illinois they attended the wedding of Mrs. Maki's niece in Hickory Hills.

ON SATURDAY, Mrs. Leo Gloyd of Huron River Drive and her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gloyd of Allen Park, drove to Adrian, Mrs.

Gloyd was an overnight guest of her niece in Adrian while Mr. and Mrs. H. Gloyd spent the night in Montpelier, Ohio with other relatives. They returned home Sunday evening.

MRS. LILA TAPP of Glendale, Arizona, is visiting in this vicinity with members of the Harris family and her many friends. On Monday she and Mrs. Louis Ford were guests of the Harold Harris'. On Tuesday evening a gathering of some of the members of the 'Kum-Join-U's' Sunday School class of the Methodist Church met at the home of Henry and Esther Deering for a picnic honoring Mrs. Tapp. Many will remember Mrs. Tapp and her late husband, Millard, as they were residents here in our city for many years.

MRS. CATHERINE Krebs entertained Mrs. Robert Larson of Marquette Monday afternoon and evening. Mrs. Larson is the mother of Mrs. Charles Stabnau.

Hayes-Ball vows read in Romulus

Sharon Kay Ball and Edmond Lee Hayes exchanged wedding bands and nuptial vows July 28 at Calvary Baptist Church in Romulus. The Rev. Lonnie England presided at the six o'clock ceremony with Mrs. Larry Pennington at the organ to play traditional wedding selections.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, Sharon appeared in a Victorian style gown of ivory organzine with brocaded flowers. The formal-length dress was fashioned with a high neck-line, bishop sleeves with five-inch cuffs, and an empire bodice.

Her cathedral length veil was caught to a headpiece of brocaded flowers, also in ivory, and her round, Victorian-style bouquet was comprised of pink rosebuds, assorted daisies and baby's breath.

PARENTS OF the bride are H.R. Ball of Toledo, Ohio and Mrs. Mary L. Butz of 38061 Walnut Drive, Romulus. Mrs. Edward L. Hayes of 38907 Wabash, Romulus, and the late Mr. Hayes are parents of the bridegroom.

Following their wedding reception at the Romulus Progressive Hall, the newlyweds traveled to the Smokey Mountains for a week's honeymoon. They are now living in Belleville.

A former schoolmate of the bride, Bedia Simon of Toledo, served as maid of honor. She, too, was dressed in a Victorian mode gown with a high-necked ivory lace bodice and dark pink organzine skirt. Her matching pink picture hat was encircled with pale pink ribbon and her bouquet was a smaller replica of the bride's.

Bridesmaids were Sandra L. Ball, sister of the bride; Glenda Harris, a life-long friend from Toledo; and Mary Hayes and Donna Jean Hayes, sisters of the bridegroom.

Their gowns, identical to the honor maid's, were styled with ivory lace bodices and light pink skirts.

LISA McHENRY, the five-year-old daughter of the William McHenrys, wore an empire-waisted Victorian frock with a pale pink lace top and pink organzine skirt as she served as flowergirl.

Five-year-old Richie Rugalski, son of the Richard Rugalskis, carried out the role of ringbearer at his aunt's wedding.

Best man was Michael Csaasz of Romulus. The corps of ushers included Larry Tackett, Craig Butz, the bride's step-brother, Paul Cornett, and Howard Overmyer, all of Romulus.

Mrs. Butz chose for her daughter's wedding a floor-length pink gown and silver accessories. The fuchsia orchid she pinned to her shoulder was tied with pink ribbon. The bridegroom's mother donned a blue formal gown with blue accessories and a corsage of pink roses and blue carnations.

The new Mrs. Hayes was graduated from Sylvania High School and the Toledo Academy of Beauty Culture. She is currently employed in the Secretary of State's Office in Romulus.

Her husband, a 1971 alumnus of Romulus High, served with the U.S. Army and is now employed at D.S.T. Industries of Romulus.

'OUTSTANDING SQUAD' — Members of North Junior High School's varsity and junior varsity cheerleading squads came home from the United States Cheerleading Association's 'Camp All-American' program with two accolades. North's cheerleaders chosen as 'Outstanding Junior High'

Eleven members of North Junior High School's eighth and ninth grade cheerleading squads attended the United States Cheerleading Association's 'Camp All-American' program August 4 through 7 at Waldenwood Estates in Hartland.

The North Junior High delegation represented the Belleville area in a very special way since they not only received a fourth place ribbon in the evening competitive program but were awarded a trophy as "Outstanding Junior High School" for their cheering excellence as voted upon by their camp counselors and fellow campers.

Since most of the campers are of high school age, the U.S.C.A. staff has the policy of presenting five high school trophies to the top cheerleading teams at each of their 27 sessions.

A junior high team, because of age restriction, is not eligible for these high school trophies. When the rare occasion occurs that a junior high cheerleading squad is far more superior than any other junior high the U.S.C.A. staff has encountered, they award them with this special trophy of recognition. Out of all the junior high teams that have attended the camp this summer, only two trophies of this nature were given. North Junior High was the recipient of one.

U.S.C.A. is one of the largest and most outstanding cheerleading organizations in the country. This summer the camp held 27 different cheerleading sessions throughout Michigan, Wisconsin and New York, involving nearly 3,500 girls.

Varsity team members attending camp and taking part in the competition were Lisa Chen, Carol Smith, Janice French, Shelia Thurman and Val Ford. Representing the junior varsity squad were Beth Purcell, Rena Moseby, Gina Minyard, Kim LaMothe, Laura LeBlanc, and Diane Poole.

Save food dollars

Increase your food buying power by using better food handling practices to decrease food waste, says Anita Dean, Michigan State University foods and nutrition specialist.

"By developing careful food buying and storing habits, you can decrease food waste and provide more nutritious foods without spending more money," the specialist says.

The food market is your starting point. Shop at a store that carries fresh, good quality foods and handle these foods properly under correct temperatures and in clean surroundings.

"Buy food products, especially perishable items, only after careful inspection," Mrs. Dean suggests. "Look for the freshness and quality that will mean higher nutritive value and a longer storage life at home."

Your refrigerator, she says, can be a great food dollar saver for storing foods a short time. It can keep food safe to eat, retain flavor and texture, maintain nutritional quality and save money by helping prevent food spoilage.

THE TEMPERATURE of the refrigerator should be between 34 and 40 degrees Fahrenheit. Above 40 degrees, the chance of food spoilage increases as the temperature rises. You can check the temperature with a refrigerator thermometer or an ordinary outdoor thermometer.

Refrigerated cooked foods should be packaged in foil, plastic wrap or air-tight containers. This can protect food from drying out and getting off-flavor.

"The throwaway habit," Mrs. Dean notes, "is very rough on your food budget." With careful planning, you can avoid leftovers entirely. When they do occur, use them promptly and creatively.

Food stored in cupboards also needs special care, the specialist says. Cool temperatures are best for cupboard storage areas. Places near the stove, dishwasher and exhaust fans are too warm to store most foods but are great for pots and pans.

Canned goods have a relatively long storage life, but this doesn't mean several years!" Mrs. Dean warns.

STORE CANNED foods in a dry, moderately cool cupboard not more than one year. If you store canned goods above 70 degrees Fahrenheit, their shelf life is shortened. Freezing canned goods may break the seals and permit spoilage organisms to enter. There may also be a texture change.

A freezer can be a handy appliance because it enables you to stock up food items when they're on sale have the convenience of a variety of food products on hand when you need them.

"A freezer can only maintain the quality of food, however—it can't improve it," Mrs. Dean adds.

Your food can have good flavor and texture and contain all or most of the nutrients it had when it was fresh if the food is properly wrapped in moisture vapor-proof materials and stored at 0 degrees Fahrenheit or below.

"To be sure frozen food gets to your freezer in top condition," Mrs. Dean says, "pick up frozen items just before checking out of the store and place them in the home freezer as soon as possible."

Dating frozen food packages will give you a handy guide to the foods that should be used first, the specialist suggests. Longer storage isn't dangerous, but flavors and textures begin to deteriorate.

Garden tour follows brunch at Carlson's

The Huron Valley Garden Club met Monday, August 6, for a ten o'clock brunch at the home of Mrs. Donald Carlson on Harmony Lane. Mrs. William Hennells assisted in serving at tables set up on the patio overlooking Belleville Lake.

Seventeen members and one guest were present for the business meeting conducted by president Mrs. Adger Wall. Invitations to two flower shows were read by the secretary. The Farmington Garden Club and Ann Arbor Garden Club are both having their Standard Show on Saturday, September 15, throughout the afternoon.

Conservation chairman Mrs. Melvin Budd reported on the work accomplished by a group of women near Farmington who got together, cleared a spot and then left all the wild flowers growing for a lovely garden.

HORTICULTURE chairman Mrs. LaVerne Sayre informed members that now is the time to transplant lily bulbs — in full sun, if possible. She also read a poem, "Spring Planting Time."

Mrs. John Gras, sunshine chairman, reported that Mrs. Leo Gloyd had fallen and injured herself and should be remembered with cards.

Club members will make flower arrangements for public display on Friday, August 24, at Box Jewellery Store on Main Street. Time for

It's a boy! That's the news being spread these late summer days by Bill and Mary Anne Emerson of 15635 Martinsville Road, Belleville.

The new heir arrived at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor, Friday, August 10, at 10:04 p.m. and weighed in at 8 lbs.-7 1/2 oz. Titled 'William Barret', he is the couple's first child.

The proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sietz of Sumpter Road and Mr. and Mrs. Justin Emerson of Madelon Street, Belleville.

DON'T WASTE NATURAL GAS.

Guess who just lowered his heating bill.

Larry Hardin, that's who, by making sure his Gas furnace will be in tip top operating condition this winter. Larry just had a licensed heating contractor make a thorough prewinter inspection of his Gas furnace. Things like belts, motor, blower, burners, pilot, thermostat and filter. The man made adjustments where necessary, started and tested Larry's furnace for proper performance, and recommended repairs if needed. Larry's really tickled to know his furnace will be operating at peak efficiency this heating season. Equally important, he'll be saving Gas and money, too.

You can do the same, if you're one of our home-heating customers. We're sending you a card with the name of a licensed heating contractor who serves your area, and a complete checklist he'll follow when inspecting your furnace. We strongly recommend that you contact him—or any licensed heating contractor—and have your furnace checked now.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

In viewing T.V. contest shows, one usually hears contestants asked, "Where are you from?" Invariably, you sense a pride in the person's reply when the town is mentioned. The contestants are mostly ordinary people; no spellbinders, no do-gooders, no politician. It is this sort of civic loyalty and pride that has helped America become big and strong ... and envied.

In our American way of life, we take many things for granted, including our home town. Maybe once in a while we ought to adopt and dedicate ourselves to a personal creed, somewhat along these lines:

"This is my home town. My home is here. My business or work is here. It is where my vote is cast; where my children are educated; where my neighbors dwell; where my life is centered. My town is entitled to my citizenship; not my partisanship. It is entitled to my friendship, not my dissensions; my sympathy, not my indifference. It supplies me with protection, trade, friends, education, friendly and reliable merchants, schools and churches. It has done some things better than others. The best things I should seek to make better, the worst things I should help to suppress. My town supports me. My town, including the merchants that help support my town, are entitled in turn to my support and loyalty."

Newlyweds honeymoon in Hawaii, Las Vegas

St. Cyprian Catholic Church in Riverview was the setting for the recent wedding of Deborah Samfilippo of Riverview and Phillip Poet of 11390 Brydan Drive, Taylor.

The Rev. Father Hurley presided at the six thirty nuptial rite which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Samfilippo of 14237 Hamilton, Riverview, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Poet of 7900 Hannan Road, Wayne.

Some 225 relatives and friends were assembled to witness the double ring ceremony. For the occasion Earl Miller Goodman was asked to be soloist.

ESCORTED TO the sanctuary by her father, the bride was gown in a creation of silk organza and Chantilly lace with the lace forming the high stand-up collar, the tops of the full bishop sleeves and the front panel of the skirt. Fine daisy lace was also used to accent the gown which was fashioned with a full, detachable chapel train.

A crown of lace and ribbon secured her illusion veil which was cut in mid-back length and a nosegay of white carnations, purple statice, stephanotis and baby's breath completed her bridal finery. As her sister's honor attendant, Gayle Samfilippo donned a floor-length gown of silk organza in a lavender floral print styled with a high neckline and long, full sleeves.

Wearing similar dresses accented with cummerbunds and ruffled hems and donning lavender wide-brimmed hats were the quartet of bridesmaids: Elaine Putman, the bridegroom's cousin from Charlevoix; Patti Pauline of Southgate; Antoinette Samfilippo, the bride's cousin from Lincoln Park; and Kathy Polak, the junior bridesmaid from Trenton.

FIVE-YEAR OLD Betty Richendollar, daughter of the Jim Richendollars of Belleville, filled the role of flowergirl in a miniature version of the senior attendants' frocks. Andrew Schafer, five, of Southgate carried out the duties of ringbearer.

Brian Deel of Belleville was asked to be best man. Others on the esquire side were Don Nieman of Romulus; Pat Putman of Belleville, cousin of the bridegroom; Gary Krajewski of Belleville; and the junior escort, Charles Evanski of Belleville.

At the reception which followed in Purple Heart Memorial Hall, the 400 guests were greeted by Mrs. Samfilippo in a pink, floor-length gown designed with an accordion-pleated skirt and long, full sleeves. Her corsage was comprised of white carnations and pink rosebuds.

ON THEIR return from a 10-day honeymoon in Hawaii and Las Vegas, the newlyweds made their home at 11390 Brydan Drive, Taylor.

Deborah is a 1971 graduate of Aquinas High School now employed at B & J Optical Service, Inc. of Lincoln Park. Phil was graduated from Belleville High in 1969 and is an employee of Asplundh Tree Expert Co. of Wayne.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the bridegroom's parents, was held at Heides Restaurant in Wyandotte.

On hand to welcome him home was his big brother, Gerald Raymond, who's two years old.

The boys' grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Durtka of Haggerty Road, Belleville, and Mrs. Vida Wampler of Detroit.

Convention reports given at BPW Club

The home of Betty Savage on Robb Road was the setting for the August 6 meeting of the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club.

Following a pot-luck dinner, the meeting centered around a report from the National Convention held in Florida last month. Filling the club in on activities at the confab were delegate Bea Boldt and alternate Helen White who gave a detailed account of the enthusiasm and support shown for the Equal Rights Amendment. The goal of equality and dignity for all people regardless of their field of endeavor was stressed.

To carry on the fight for these goals, a massive consolidated campaign for cash was conducted with much vigor and success.

Taylor church chosen for summer wedding

In a six o'clock ceremony July 28 at Sunset Church of Christ in Taylor, Marilyn Marie Valvet became the bride of Steve Mikalakis. Their double ring vows were exchanged before the Rev. Wayne Porter before some 300 assembled guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Valvet of 28266 Ecorse Road, Romulus, are parents of the bride while Mr. and Mrs. James Kellepoury of 16060 Cameron, Southgate, are the bridegroom's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, Marilyn appeared in a gown of white chiffon over bridal taffeta designed with long, full sleeves, a square neckline and toe-touching skirt.

The delicate daisy lace which accented her dress also was used to edge the chapel-length mantilla veil which complimented her dress. A cascade arrangement of white carnations and baby roses completed her ensemble.

SHIERI GERRIN of Wayne was asked to be maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Kathy Ann Krueger and Cathy Lane of Romulus, and a cousin, Gail Helfrich of New Boston.

Identically attired, their chiffon frocks were in pastel shades and fashioned in the empire mode with short puffed sleeves. They wore soft-brimmed picture hats in matching colors and carried bouquets of carnations tied with harmonizing streamers.

Best man was Joe Schulte of Taylor and ushers included Jim Thomas of Taylor; Herbie Garner of Southgate, the bride's cousin; Rodney McNeal of Lincoln Park; and Jim Kellepoury of Southgate, the bridegroom's brother.

A blue lace formal gown and corsage of pink carnations and red baby roses were chosen by Mrs. Valvet for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother donned a sleeveless yellow acetate dress in formal length and added a corsage of yellow carnations and pink rose buds.

THE V.F.W. Hall in Taylor was reserved for the reception which followed. The newlyweds later departed for a week-long honeymoon in Windsor, Ontario. For traveling, the new Mrs. Mikalakis changed to a green and white slacks suit. Since their return the couple have taken up residence at 66565 Merriman Road, Romulus. Following rehearsal, the bride's parents entertained at a poolside party at their home on Ecorse Road.

Summer fun was the theme

OVER 100 GUESTS answered invitations from Larry and Dianne Moomey and traveled to their country home on Merriman Road, Romulus, Sunday, August 4. Billing their party as a 'fun get-together', the Moomeys welcomed friends and relatives from Appleton, Wisconsin; Largo, Florida; Columbus, Ohio; Detroit, Livonia, Lake Orion, Romulus and Belleville.

Festivities got underway at two in the afternoon. Host Larry, who plays clarinet and sax and sings professionally in Detroit area clubs, had 20 of his fellow-musicians on hand to play for dancing throughout the day. The Moomeys' newly-constructed deck served as dance floor for those who weren't busy swimming, riding horseback or pitching horseshoes.

Poolside activities also included a bar and buffet set-up spotlighting an antique iron caldron in which the sweetcorn was boiled. Sally Cochran, a close friend of the hostess, lent a hand with the food preparation which featured barbecued chicken, ham, stuffed cabbage, and a smorgasbord of other goodies.

Also assisting throughout the day were the Moomeys' eight-year old son, Guy, who directed cars for parking; seven-year old Sarah, who helped with glasses and ashtrays; and the couple's two married daughters and their husbands: Cecelia and Michael Krupnow who motored in from Appleton, Wisconsin with their three-months old son, Barret; and Kathleen and Jim Benge of Belleville.

And finally, there was the hostess' aunt, Mrs. Helen DuCommun, who flew in from Largo, Florida especially to attend the party which finally dimmed at midnight.

Twosome jets to Spain

MRS. CRAIG (Karen) Stabnau and her four-months old son, Erik, left from Metro Airport on Thursday, August 2, and winged their way to Spain.

There they joined their husband and father, Sergeant Craig Stabnau, who is serving with the U.S. Air Force in Zaragoza. The threesome will be abroad for the next two years.

Clovers entertain after baptism

THOMAS LLOYD Glover was just one month old when he received the sacrament of baptism Sunday, August 5, at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Redford. With his mom and dad, the Lloyd Glovers, he arrived here Thursday from Orlando, Florida where Mr. G. is self-employed in construction work.

The ceremony at one o'clock was conducted by Father Robert Ryan with Margaret Peters of Troy and Daniel Glover of Westland as God-parents. Also attending the service were the infant's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Glover of Romulus; Ron Peters of Troy; Norma Glover with Dawn and Daniel Jr. of Westland; the baby's great-grandmother Mrs. Marta Zacharyczuk of Garden City; the Frank Simpson family from Livonia; Sergeant David Hochstein from Cherry Point, North Carolina; and John, Susan and Robert Hochstein, all of Redford.

Following the christening, the Fred Glovers entertained at their home on Ecorse Road. About 30 relatives attended the catered outdoor dinner including the contingent from the church and also Mary Dorozenko of E. Detroit; Anna Klytta of Southfield; Mary Grech from Thamesville, Ontario; and Anna Nethercott of Crinan, Ontario.

Still others were Mary and Pat Glover from Plymouth and Jacob and Valerie Glover of Belleville.

Among the many gifts presented to the new heir was a pastel-colored hard-crocheted blanket made by Norma Glover.

While here on a combined business-pleasure trip, the Glovers were houseguests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hochstein of Redford. On leaving Monday, they were accompanied by their 12-year old niece, Joanne Simpson of Livonia, who will be their guest for a week before jetting home again.

Mid-Ohio Tour attracts group

SULA McAULEY of Pompano Beach, Florida is the houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hooten and son, Ted, of High Street. Over the week-end Ted Jr. and Ms. McAuley attended the Alpha Romeo Sportscar Club's Mid-Ohio Tour held in Lexington, Ohio.

Along with other sportscar buffs from this area — Barb and Larry Boelter, Pat and Dick Gamble, and Sandy and Kenn Askew — they left from Downtown Detroit and toured enroute to the race course site. The Club and invited guests made their headquarters at the Derrick Motel in Mount Gilead, Ohio.

Family cook-out is farewell time

THE FAMILY get-together Sunday, August 5, at the Sumpter Road home of Tom and Grace Hudge served as a farewell to Leonard and Julianna Hudge who have been visiting here for the past eight weeks. They left by plane Saturday for their home in Tarpon Springs, Florida.

Joining in the two o'clock cook-out hosted by the senior Hudges with additional dishes supplied by the distaff side of the family were Ed and Mary Anne Hudge and their two daughters, Nancy and Nora, from Ann Arbor... the foursome having just returned from a seven-weeks stay in LaJolla, California.

Still others were Bert and Lee Smith and daughter, Sue, (Lee also recently in from 10 days in LaJolla); Bill and Flo Hudge with Mike, Judy and Cindy and their houseguest, Greg Wilson of San Jose, California; Jim and Shirley Hudge and daughter, Theresa; and the Tom Hudge's trio — Sherie, Tommie and Gary.

State Fair schedule mixes country, city

This year's Michigan State Fair will blend the serenity of the countryside with the heart of the city, as events range from husband-calling contests (similar to hog calling) and dare-devil motorcycle riders. Opening noon, Aug. 23, and running through Labor Day, Sept. 3, the fair offers several first-time events in addition to many proven favorites.

New this year are a festival of foods, offering good things to nibble and munch as well as displays, demonstrations and consumer tips from food experts; an animal petting farm where small fry can pet and snuggle animals their own size, and rides in an "Around the World in 80 Days" style ascension balloon.

THERE ALSO are 13 top entertainers in free twice-daily shows, two auto thrill shows and 23 free horse shows especially featuring the Detroit Mounted Police. Plus more livestock, produce and handicraft exhibits than most people can probably cover in a day, and of course, the midway with rides and games and mountains of hot dogs.

Out at the fairgrounds at Woodward and Eight Mile in Detroit, a new coat of paint has been brushed onto the music shell, the flower beds have been weeded, and the exhibit halls are getting a scrub down, all in preparation for the fair.

The fair's star entertainers will perform daily at 4:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m., except for the Labor Day shows at 3 p.m. and 6 p.m.

Scheduled are:

—Roberta Flack, Thursday, Aug. 23;

—Doc Severinson and the Now Generation Brass, featuring Today's Children, Aug. 24;

—Lynn Anderson and Jerry Reed, Aug. 25;

—Anne Murray, Aug. 26;

—Loretta Lynn and Buck Owens, Aug. 27;

—Jerry Lee Lewis, Aug. 28;

—Bill Cosby and Lola Falana, Aug. 30-31;

—Joey Heatherton, Sat. Sept. 1;

—Dawn, featuring Tony Orlando, Sept. 2-3.

IN ADDITION, Dan Fleenor's Hurricane Helldrivers will perform driving feats Aug. 24 through Aug. 26, and the International Demolition Derby — called "the world's largest traffic accident" and really a Dodge game using real cars — will be crashing and smashing on Sunday evening, Sept. 2.

Other State Fair highlights include:

—A new teetered ascent ride in David Lee Claggett's "The Stars and Stripes," a 70-foot high hot air balloon. Claggett, a Ypsilanti aeronaut, will operate daily, weather and wind conditions permitting.

—The National Heavyweight Draft Horse Championship in which horses weighing more than one ton will strain against giant weights for $4,500 in prize money.

—The State Fair Art Show, with professional and amateur competition in painting, prints, drawings, photography, ceramics and weaving. The show runs for the entire fair in the Community Arts building, with a special preview scheduled for Aug. 22 from 7 to 9 p.m.

—AUCTION of prize market animals, 2:30 p.m. Aug. 28, featuring the sale of Grand and Reserve Champion Youth Division Steers and other ribbon-winning livestock.

—Festival of worship, Aug. 26 at 10 a.m., featuring a special Youth for Christ program.

MIDWAY MUSIC ENCHANTS SUMMER — The recorded sounds of organ music coupled with flashing yellow lights and screams of delighted but frightened children on the rides enchants the warm August air as fair season returns. Continuing this week is the annual 4-H County Fair on the outskirts of Belleville, and next week the Michigan State Fair begins. Highlights of both fairs are livestock exhibits, queen crowning and plenty of clowning by entertainers and the crowds themselves.

Pajama party gains funds for muscular dystrophy drive

Tom and Diane Schoenith, well-known party planners in the Detroit Metropolitan area are seeking party-givers in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties to join with them in an unusual fund-raiser for Muscular Dystrophy.

The Schoeniths want to establish a tri-county "network" of parties to run simultaneously during the 20 hour broadcast of the 1973 Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon for Muscular Dystrophy.

The parties, called "Stay Up With Jerry and Watch the Stars Come Out," will be centered around TV sets in private homes, and will be linked by phone both to the Schoenith home and the television studios of WKBD-TV.

SCHOENITH, whose family owns the Roostertail club in Detroit, is well-known in social circles for his lavish, highly imaginative private parties. Lately, he has devoted more and more time to giving parties for charitable organizations. This is the first time he has devised a series of private parties for charity.

"We're inviting anyone who wants to give a Telethon party for MD to call us up and we'll help plan their parties," Schoenith says. "We'll send them a complete 'party own party and showing how it can be adapted to any home or any budget."

The Schoenith party will feature a different activity for each of the 20 hours the Telethon is in progress. Guests will be "charged" a $5 Telethon donation to get in and a larger donation if guests leave before 20 hours. Guests who fall asleep will be charged $1 for each hour of slumber.

Other details of the party, including recipes and games, are contained in the five-page party plan Schoenith is providing to anyone who contacts him.

WKBD-TV plans to call each party-giver in the tri-county area for "on the air" progress reports during locally televised segments of the Lewis show. The Schoeniths will also call their partying colleagues to compare notes during the 20 hour "stayawake" effort.

"It's a combination TV party-pajama party and anything else party," Schoenith says. "Diane and I are really anxious to see how many other zany people will want to try it."

Interested hosts and hostesses are invited to phone the Schoeniths on their special "party line" at 585-2584 or write for complete details to Schoenith's office, Suite No. 333, 32500 Dolly Madison Drive, Madison Heights, Michigan 48071.

Riverfront fest highlights Danes

The five major Scandinavian nationalities — Icelandic, Swedish, Danish, Finnish and Norwegian — of diverse geographic, economic and social characteristics have cooperated to produce the third Spirit of Scandinavia Ethnic Festival on downtown Detroit's riverfront Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

In the food booths Scandinavian delicacies will be on sale; pasties (meat-and-potato-filled dough), bologna, Finnish stew, karjala pirakka (dough-wrapped cheese and potatoes), Swedish meatballs, Norwegian pea soup, Danish pastries and fancy sandwiches.

"Spirit of Scandinavia" hours are from 1 p.m. to 11 p.m. Friday, noon to 11 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Auditions for "Hobbit" planned this weekend

You don't have to be a thin goat-footed creature like Samoyed to try out a play, "The Hobbit," by J.R.R. Tolkien.

Tryouts for humans will be this Friday and Saturday at St. John's Episcopal Church in Westland. Tryout time is 7:30 p.m. both days.

This children's and adult fantasy lovers show will open the Wayne-Westland Civic Theater's 1973-74 season.

There are 25 parts for boys and girls of all ages. Production dates are Oct. 13 and 14 at Wayne Memorial High School.

State Bar suggests law training

By WES THORP
Daily Eagle Lansing Bureau

The next tax supported law school in the state may not be located at a university, but possibly at the State Prison of Southern Michigan in Jackson.

As proposed by the Young Lawyers Section of the State Bar, the prison law school would train selected inmates to be para-legal aides.

Money for the program, according to the proposal, would Navy Seaman Recruit Connie L. Bostain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Bostain, 7350 Farnum St., Romulus, has graduated from recruit training for women at the Naval Training Center, Orlando, Fla.

Marine PFC. Richard Liberty of 20838 Middlebelt Rd., Romulus received a $1,500 bonus upon graduation from the Infantry Training School at the Marine Corps base, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

He enlisted under the Combat Arms Program which guarantees a $1,500 bonus and training in one of the occupational specialties of his choice.

Bill Glaab of Hannan Road is back home after two weeks training with the National Air Guard in Alpena, Michigan. Bill, who is a son of the Pete Glaabs of Hannan Road, was chosen "Airman of the Year" by his squad.

The program is limited to four-year enlistees who volunteer and qualify for infantry, artillery or tracked vehicle training.

come from a $100,000 grant which the Young Lawyers have applied for from the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

THE SPECIALLY-trained prisoners would aid other inmates in all legal matters relating to their confinement, including motions for new trials and appeals to the State Court of Appeals and the State Supreme Court.

And, according to Joe Reid, a Lansing attorney and a prime-mover behind the para-legal proposal, the aides also could help their fellow inmates in civil legal matters such as divorces and child custody cases.

At the present time, Reid said for an inmate to get free legal counsel for an appeal he has to apply within 60 days of his sentencing.

And for other legal matters, an inmate either has to pay his own legal fees which Reid said many can't do or go to a "jail-house lawyer where many inmates get ripped-off."

THE PROPOSAL was approved by the Michigan Corrections Commission, the policy-making arm of the State Department of Corrections.

According to the proposal which was submitted to the corrections commission, selected prisoners would take a five-month course which would include the following subjects:

—appellate review which would include a survey of all court remedies after a conviction. Lectures would cover material on how to most effectively approach a particular court, including both the procedure and strategy which should be employed.

—research which would involve the teaching of procedure and substantive interpretation of statutes and case law.

—brief writing which would be aimed at getting the inmates to write brief with legal accuracy, fair analysis and persuasiveness.

—substantive law which would be aimed at demonstrating the depth of legal issues and the breadth of the field of criminal law.

THE PROGRAM, according to the proposal, would be under a full-time director who would be paid from $18,000 to $22,000 per year.

Assisting him would be two staff attorneys who would be paid between $15,000 and $18,000 per year.

The prison legal aides would interview each inmate seeking legal help and then a committee of other aides and a staff attorney would determine what disposition should be made.

WHEN THE committee decides what action should be taken, the case is assigned to a legal aide whose duties may include the preparation and filing of petitions for transcripts or counsel, the study of transcripts and preparation of written recommendations on potentially appealable issues.

In appropriate instances, the attorney will assign the research and brief writing to an inmate aide who has not previously reviewed the case.

Bureau to survey in area

Next week the U.S. Bureau of the Census will conduct its regular monthly survey in this area on employment and unemployment.

Local households in the survey are part of the 50,000 across the country that have been scientifically selected to represent a cross section of all households.

The survey is taken by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor.

It provides monthly information on conditions in the labor force, a prime indicator of the economic health of the Nation.

For example, results of the June survey showed the unemployment rate to be 4.8 per cent, the first time in three years that it has been below 5 per cent. Employment rose substantially (by 650,000) to a seasonally adjusted level of 84.7 million. Nationally, over the past year, employment has risen by 2.9 million.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is confidential and results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Product reps meet in area

The first annual Michigan Consumers Products Show for electronic products will be held Sept. 9-11 at the Ramada Inn, 8270 Wickham Rd., Romulus.

Sponsored by the Electronic Representatives Association, Michigan chapter, the show hours will be from 1 to 9 p.m. Sept. 9 and from 1 to 7 p.m. on Sept. 10 and 11.

The show is open by invitation only to electronic dealers and electronic firms.

"WE WILL SAVE YOU MONEY - MONEY!"

With your present air conditioning—portable or central.

Proper use and maintenance can keep efficiency up and operating costs down. Some of the things that help a lot are: keep your air conditioner clean, not over-cooling and keeping it covered or indoors in the winter.

With the air conditioner you may buy.

You'll get the best air conditioning results if you buy a unit that's the right size for your room or home. It also should have a high Energy Efficiency Rating (7 or above). You may pay more, but its high efficiency will save on operating cost and conserve valuable energy.

With the right ventilation, shade and landscaping.

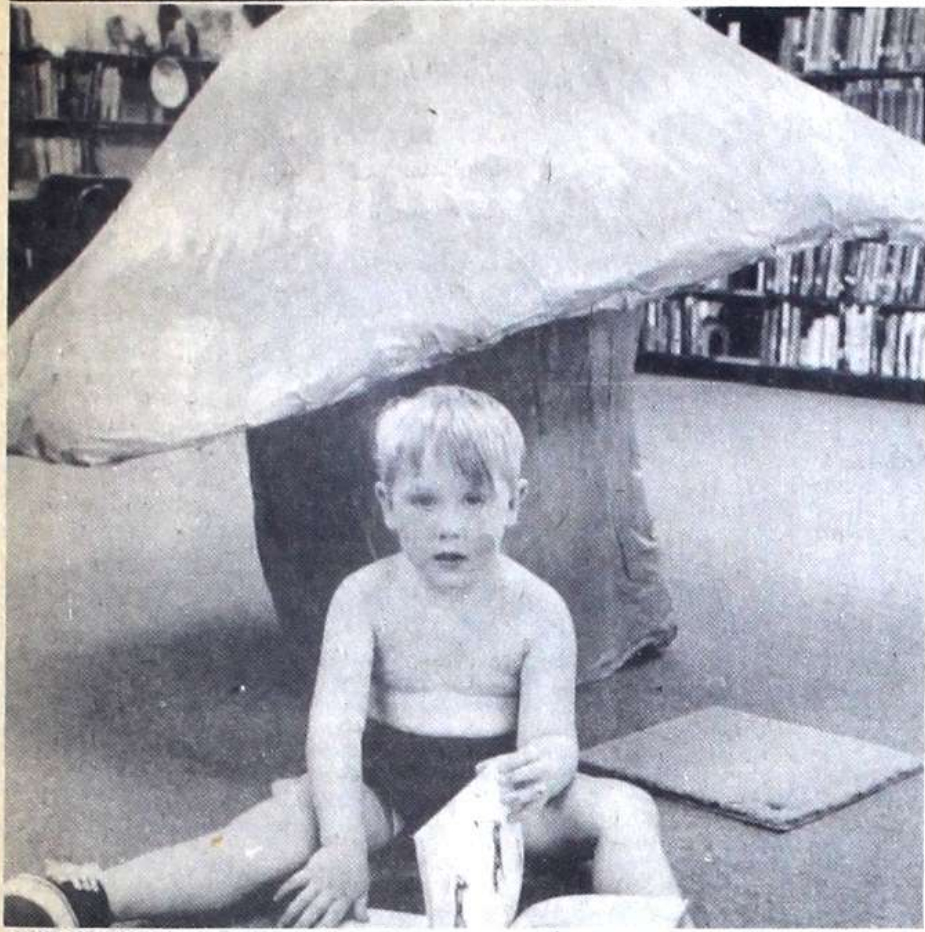

The outdoor portion of the unit should be shaded as much as possible, at least during the warmest parts of the day. Shading your home with trees, awnings, or vines can help even more. Light-colored paint and proper attic ventilation are also important.

With our free booklet.

We have lots more tips for you. Pick up your copy of "How To Get Your Money's Worth From Your Electric Air Conditioner" at your nearest Detroit Edison office. Or write us: Detroit Edison, Room 473-CB, 2000 Second Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226.

Teamsters reward drivers for observing safety rules

In an effort to keep highways safe for all motorists, Teamsters Local 229 is offering a reward to the safest driver observed during the Labor Day weekend.

A $100 U.S. Savings Bond will be given to the driver who is observed on any Michigan highway in some courteous act or otherwise demonstrating safe driving, according to Dave Johnson, president of Local 299.

Truck drivers on the road, police officers or private citizens can submit the name (or license number) of the driver of the safe vehicle, simply by sending it to Safe Driver, in care of Dave Johnson, President, Teamsters Local 299, 2741 Trumbull, Detroit 48216.

THE PERSON submitting the name of the driver chosen most safe will receive a $25 U.S. Savings Bond.

A brief letter of explanation (300 words or less) should accompany the name submitted, along with the name and address of the observer.

Charles Drummond, Chief Enforcement Officer for the Bureau of Safety, Department of Transportation, will decide which of the entries is most deserving of the award.

Labor Day is traditionally one of the worst holidays for accidents, it being the last holiday of the summer.

JOHNSON HAS been a staunch advocate of safe driving among truck drivers

Counties declared disaster

Wayne and Monroe counties have been declared disaster areas due to the flooding caused by storm on June 17 and 18.

Area residents who sustained damages during the storms can apply for disaster assistance at the Small Business Administration's Detroit District Office, 912 Book Bldg., 1249 Washington Blvd., Detroit. Applications are available from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

and is proud that Teamsters drive thousands of accident-free miles every year.

"But," he said, "We don't intend to sit idly by while drugged, drunken and in-different drivers congest our highways with accidents and take thousands of innocent victims with them. "Everyone who would put his hand to a steering wheel must be made to understand that the right to drive is a conditional privilege and must be respected as such."

"A driver's license should be granted only to those who prove competent, and it should be taken away from all who abuse the privilege."

HE SAID the search for safe drivers is intended to give recognition to the driver who cares.

Deadline for submitting names is Sept. 10.

Tammy had been vacationing at Big Bay in the Upper Peninsula with her parents, five sisters, and her grandparents, and other relatives, when she was stricken.

Ben Scott of Elmview was honored at a seventy-fifth birthday celebration last Sunday at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Ratz, in Monroe. Twenty-eight children, grandchildren and great grandchildren of the Ben Scotts were present for the happy occasion. An outdoor dinner, games and swimming were enjoyed.

A farewell dinner and open house will be held Monday, August 20, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Stanton at 9520 Ozga Road, in honor of Francis Nicol (Durkee), a Missionary in Mexico since 1958. Miss Nicol has been visiting the Stantons and other friends and local relatives for the past several days. She is a Romulus High School graduate and formerly lived on Cogswell Road. Local friends and relatives are cordially invited to attend the open house from 1 to 6 p.m. August 20 at the Stanton home.

Among the workers this week at the fully equipped First Aid Station set up by the American Red Cross at the Wayne County 4-H Fair is Kay Ostrowski of LeRoy Street, Romulus. Mrs. Ostrowski, who has been a First Aid instructor for the Red Cross in Detroit and Romulus off and on for the past 21 years, will be on duty at the first aid station on the fairgrounds from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday. The First Aid Station will be operated each day of the fair (through Sunday) from opening to closing.

MAJOR ATTRACTIONS — The Midway with its assorted game displays and amusement rides is an essential part of fairs for lasting years and the Wayne County 4-H Fair is no exception. The rides shown above are just two of the many attractions offered by this year's Midway at the 4-H Fair at the Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds, located on Quirk Road, north of the I-94 Expressway. The 4-H Fair will run from today through Sunday.

Area mobile home owners need titles of possession

Area residents who own a mobile home but do not have a title for it, could be headed for serious problems.

Mobile homes in Michigan are classified as motor vehicles and owners should have titles in their possession, Secretary of State Richard H. Austin said.

"We are constantly receiving complaints from mobile home owners who try to sell their trailers but have difficulty because they do not have the title," Austin added.

APPARENTLY, some mobile home owners think that these types of homes are real estate property but the motor vehicle code explicitly defines mobile homes and trailer coaches as motor vehicles, and subject to the titling provisions of the code.

Under Michigan law, when a person purchases a motor vehicle, either outright or with a loan from a bank or lending institution, the title goes directly to the owner of the vehicle.

"No matter how much you may owe on such a vehicle," Austin said, "You still should have physical possession of the title. Don't let anyone convince you otherwise."

Austin said he continues to receive complaints from mobile home owners who suddenly realize that they have no vehicle title when they are about to sell their trailers.

THESE PERSONS must locate the dealer or previous owner and often arrange for payment of sales tax before they can obtain a title which would allow disposal of the property.

Most of the complaints against mobile home dealers revolve about the problem of failing to apply for title within the specified 15-day period set forth in Michigan law, Austin said.

Mobile home dealers are classified just as auto dealers are. A-dealers may sell both new and used mobile homes. B-dealers may sell only used mobile homes.

In many instances, dealers also sell other types of motor vehicles including cars and trucks.

"WHILE THE overwhelming percentage of mobile home dealers are honest businessmen, we have had a few unscrupulous operators," Austin said. "I recall the case of an older couple who did not know that they had to have a title for their mobile home. The elderly gentleman died and the park owner sold the mobile home right out from under the widow, who was unaware that she was the legal owner."

business, but one can see the problems that a simple oversight can cause."

Panax Corporation announces earnings

Second quarter revenues and earnings recently were announced by Panax Corporation, newspaper publishers and printers in Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Florida. Panax operates eight daily and 36 weekly newspapers including The Daily Eagle, The Romulus Roman and The Belleville Enterprise.

Earnings from operations for the second quarter ended June 30 were $209,690 or 18 cents per share on revenues of $6,491,954. This compares with 1972 second quarter earnings of $215,522, also 18 cents per share, on revenues of $5,739,304.

Record operating revenues of $12,110,749 were reported for the first six months of 1973 compared to $11,078,354 in 1972.

NET EARNINGS of $302,756 for the first half of 1973 compares with net earnings of $295,859 for the same period in 1972.

Per share earnings are 26 cents for the first six months of this year compared to 25 cents last year. As previously reported first quarter earnings included a $69,282 gain on sale of an investment.

Results for the six month period have been restated to reflect acquisitions made for common stock on a pooling of interests basis which were completed in the second and third quarters of 1972.

ACCORDING to Panax

Corporation president John P. McGoff earnings have been affected by labor and material cost increases which have not been passed along to the company's customers.

"If our analysis of the new government guidelines permit," he said, "We will adjust our prices to properly reflect these increased costs."

Jaycees set date

The Romulus Jaycees have set Oct. 4 for their annual golf tournament.

The tournament has been scheduled for the Shady Hollow Golf Course on Wayne Road north of Wick Road in Romulus.

Tickets for a day of golf are $20 apiece, according to project chairmen Leonard Folman and John Domas.

The price of tickets include trophies for the golfers, food, beer and other beverages.

Fair female to win prize for dunking

The Belleville-Van Buren Jaycees are seeking female contestants, 18 years of age and older for their "Dunk Tank" at the Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds, located on Quirk Road, one mile north of the I-94 Expressway.

The Wayne County 4-H Fair opened a six-day run Aug. 14. Gene Baker, chairman of the Dunk Tank project, said the girl getting dunked the most during the 4-H Fair will receive a $30 gift certificate.

Stethoscopes have been used by medical people since 1816.

Captures pictures to boot

Lothar unrattled by hunt

By MITCH KEHETIAN

You've heard of "fishermen's tales" and now we've got one for you with a rattler to it.

Several weeks ago a group of daring outdoorsmen decided to take a weekend jaunt to Georgian Bay to get themselves some pike and bass near Canada's Fitzwilliam Island.

This story is based on what they claim. Not being the outdoors sportsman type, I've taken their word — for what it's worth — about the following fishy-rattler tale.

Since I joined the staff here at The Enterprise, Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko has come up with some real way-out pictures, and he always insists: "Pictures don't lie."

BUT EVEN with some of the photos our man brought back from the wilds of Georgian Bay, my Armenian instinct suspects Lothar may have pulled the trick photography caper of the year.

I first heard about the "Great Expedition" from Lothar and his cohorts; namely Jerry Hyatt of Hyatt's Construction, his two sons, Dan and Craig; Jerry's brother, Dave of Westland;

Clark Gray of Garden City, and Jackelin McKenna of Livonia.

Lothar claims he went along for the cruise "just to rest" and take in the fresh natural beauty of northern Canada — but the old German proved he too is a bug for game hunting.

"In Germany we don't have rattlesnakes," he said. "The only poisonous snake I ever saw in Bavaria was a Kreutzotter."

ACCORDING TO the "Georgian Bay Seven", each (except Lothar) came back with an assortment of pike and bass. Lothar came back with seven snakes.

"Everytime I thought I hooked a pike, he got away," Lothar apologizes.

But what a rattler snake hunter he is ... or claims to be. When Jerry Hyatt noticed Lothar was not about to contribute to the fish catch, he nominated our man and guide Lloyd Smith of Tobermory to "go ashore and clean the fish."

WHY GO ASHORE? Because Hyatt didn't want fishy scales all over his mini-flagship.

But Dave Hyatt warned: "I know that island. (Fitzwilliam Island) It's crawling with rattler snakes."

And Lothar responded: "If the Pied Piper could rid Hamelin of its rats, then this German can rid the island of its rattlers."

When Lothar and Smith set foot on the island, the guide said: "Be my guest. You first."

Lothar spotted the first rattler when he walked ashore from the small lifeboat he helped paddle to Fitzwilliam Island.

"I grabbed a piece of driftwood and knocked that snake out of his senses," our Pied Piping rattler champ boasts.

BY THE TIME Lothar and Smith had cleaned all the fish, our man got six more rattlers. "They stopped coming after me when the word got out I was not afraid," he said — in German.

The real jolt came when Lothar set the lens opening on his camera, and instructed Smith to "shoot when the snake looks at you..."

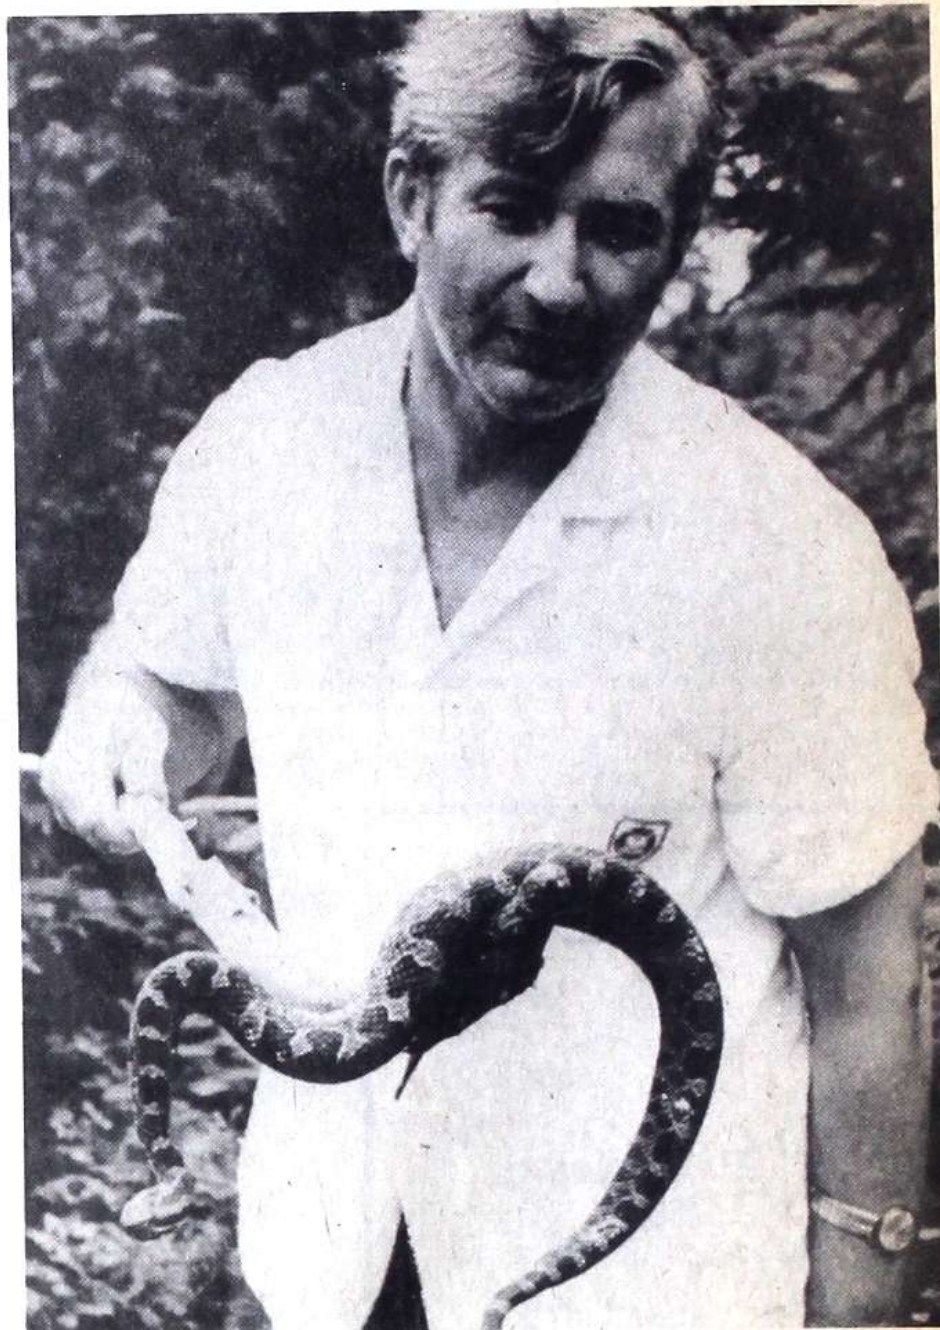

When our rattler hunter returned to Hyatt's flagship Gray shrieked: "Keep those things out of this ship," and Lothar responded: "Don't worry. I killed them ... Do you want a rattler?"

ON THEIR TRIP back across Lake Huron, the story was told and retold ... and by the time they straggled back to Western Wayne County — Fitzwilliam Island had been renamed "Rattlesnake Island."

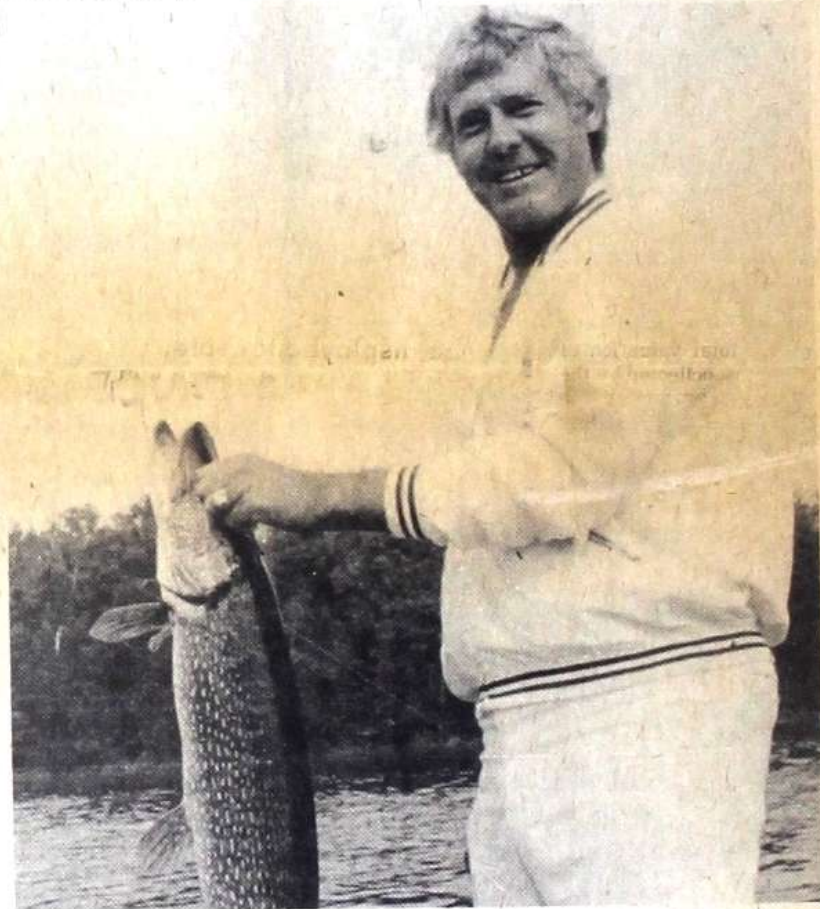

And Lothar Konietzko wears "It's the truth..."

And Jerry Hyatt vows "We aught so many pikes and bass we ran out of bait ..."

No more fishy-rattler stories, please.

PIED PIPER? — NOPE! Just Lothar Konietzko, chief photographer of the Enterprise-Roman, trying to coax his rattler friend to pose for a picture. He and seven hearty fishermen from the area relate their somewhat unusual vacation trip.

LOOK WHAT I CAUGHT — Jerry Hyatt ran out of bait. And he boasts: "Believe me, this is no fisherman's tale..."

In seven years

Household workers may get social security coverage

Almost one-third of the nation's household workers could be eligible for social security retirement benefits in seven years or less, according to social security officials.

"Most women household workers are in their 40's, but 29 per cent are over 55. These are the workers who could start getting retirement benefits in seven years or less," a social security spokesman said.

A household worker can get reduced monthly social security retirement checks beginning at 62—or full benefits beginning at 65—if she has worked long enough in jobs covered by social security.

THERE ARE nearly 1.7 million household workers in the nation, and 1.5 million are women, the spokesman said.

A household worker's cash wages count for social security if she is paid $50 or more in a three-month calendar quarter from one employer working as a maid, cook, cleaning woman, laundress, housekeeper, babysitter, etc., in someone else's home.

"This means that a household worker's wages are covered by social security if she is paid as much as $3.85 per week in cash for 13 consecutive weeks in a calendar quarter," a spokesman said.

"To get the proper social security credit for her earnings," the spokesman said, "A household worker should be sure to give her employer her correct social security number."

THE EMPLOYER is responsible for sending a quarterly report of wages paid and the social security contributions to the Internal Revenue Service.

Single copies of a leaflet, "Social Security and Your Household Employee," are available free on request at any social security office.

VAN BUREN TEACHERS ASK WHY???

...WHY is the Board intentionally delaying negotiations? Why do they NOT wish to settle the new contract before the start of the school year?

...WHY is the Board DEMANDING that the teachers stay in the schools 40 minutes longer each day for no reason educationally, just be there? How will this help the school system? May be they are being TOLD to make this DEMAND!

...WHY is the Board DEMANDING that binding arbitration be taken from the teachers' contract? If they administrate the contract fairly, they have nothing to fear from an arbitrator! Are they being TOLD to make this DEMAND? How will this help the school system?

...WHY is the Board DEMANDING that the agency shop provisions be removed from the contract? This has not been a problem in the past! Maybe they are being DIRECTED to make this DEMAND! How will this help the school system?

...WHY is the Board DEMANDING the insertion of a residency clause? And only directed at the teachers of the system?

...DID you know that similar DEMANDS are being made in other school districts? Are these other Boards being TOLD to present these DEMANDS on their teachers? Coincidence?

...DID you know that 36 school boards in Wayne County have joined together to form Task Force 36?

...DID you know that this alliance of school boards, Task Force 36, has recommended to all the boards negotiating with teachers such items as: REFUSE contract provisions on class size limitations, REFUSE binding arbitration, Downplay the importance of SENIORITY in teacher lay-offs. Seek a provision requiring 40 hours at teacher stations in school buildings. RESIST "bringing school employees under Unemployment Compensation in ANY FORM."

POWER PUNCH — Glenn Bowles; of the Tang Soo Do school of karate smashes a board held by Gary Barton (left) of the Kung Fu School and Mike Earle of the Tae Kwan Do school of the art. The three came to the Cory Elementary School in Romulus recently to show the participants in the city's recreation program some of the skills learned in Karate.

For Karate exhibition

Have belt-will travel to Korea

What started as an innocent attempt to fend off bullies because an international interest for a Romulus girl, Susannah Maziarski, 16, began taking karate lessons because she was only 5 feet tall. Her physical education teacher advised her to take the class through the district's continuing education program. She has progressed to a Green Belt since March.

To get a better idea of what karate is all about, Susannah told her parents she was taking her life savings to travel to Korea for the first world-wide tournament of the Tae Kwon Do Karate sect.

The trip would last three weeks, she told her parents she would travel with 10 other members of the Tae Kwon Do Association of America.

"She told us about the tournaments and although she couldn't compete because it's a man's activity in Korea, she could observe. She's always been independent and she's reliable," Mrs. Maziarski explained.

"At first she wanted me to go too, but we decided that her sister, Cindy should go instead." Cindy, 14, is a Karate drop-out.

Susannah keeps her life pretty busy, outside of Karate lessons. She dances with the Polish Women's Alliance and studies for a future as an airline stewardess or a teacher or a child psychologist.

She claims she won't get the fifth degree black belt because "it's so hard and there are so many things I want to do."

Susannah said her trip was a most enjoyable experience. "I love to travel, and this trip was worth a hundred textbooks, she said.

"We learned so much about the Korean way of life and there were thousands of people at the tournaments from all over the world.

"It was worth every penny, even if it did take almost all our savings."

The trip cost the girls $3,000. Now both girls are busy babysitting to rebuild their accounts.

Susannah thinks a trip to Ecuador is in order for next spring.

"Our Spanish class makes a trip to Spain every year and since Cindy and I will both be taking Spanish this fall, I think we ought to go someplace different - Ecuador sounds so exciting.

A female herring will lay from 20,000 to 50,000 eggs.

Permits mount in July

The Van Buren Township Building Department issued 29 residential building permits during July. The permits call for an estimated $151,577 in construction costs.

Of the residential building permits, 14 were issued for additions, alterations and conversions to present homes in the township totaling $47,467 in costs.

In addition the department issued a permit for the construction of a $10,000 commercial office project and a permit for the installation of a $3,200 swimming pool.

The total number of permits including building permits issued by the building department during July was 151 with a total valuation of $162,577. Fees collected by the department amounted to $1,694 in July.

The heating division of the department issued 30 permits and collected $294 in fees. The plumbing division issued 21 permits and collected $269.50 in fees. The electrical division issued 60 permits and collected $562.50 in fees.

Pitcher's career in doubt

But ex-Wayne hurler keeps optimistic

By DALE GOWING

Frank Fisher's professional baseball career may be hanging in the balance, but you certainly couldn't tell it by the buoyant attitude of the former Wayne Memorial pitcher.

The 22-year-old righthander, one of the 14 hurlers on the Detroit Tigers' original 1973 spring roster, underwent surgery at Detroit's Ford Hospital last week for removal of a bone chip and calcium deposits in the right elbow — his throwing arm. And because of the operation, it would seem only natural to have doubts about his future in baseball — especially since he is a pitcher.

"I'M SURE THE arm will turn out all right, and I'm looking forward to perhaps playing winter ball down south and make it back to the top of the farm next season," said the extremely optimistic 1968 Wayne graduate.

"The doctors had to cut through muscle and tendon to get to the bone chip, which they said turned out to be about the size of a nickel. I guess it was no trouble to repair, so I'm not too worried. But I can't help wondering about those tendons and muscles they had to cut through. If those things go bad you're through."

The solid 6-foot-4, 200-pound Fisher, who ironically never received any pitching honors while at Wayne and was not named to the All-Area baseball team even once, obviously had something the Tigers liked. They drafted him third in 1968 and sent him to their Bristol (Pa.) minor league team in the Appalachian League.

HE HAD A 3-5 won-lost record there as a starting pitcher, along with a 3.50 earned run average, was changed to a reliever and moved up a notch to Lakeland in the Florida State League. There he saw action in 50 games — a lot for a relief pitcher — and registered a 6-5 record with a respectable 3.1 ERA.

Detroit Farm Director Hoot Evers then promoted Fisher to Rocky Mount (N.C.) in the A League, where the curly-haired breaking-ball thrower went 10-7, led the team in innings pitched and was fifth in the league with a 2.92 ERA.

He spent the spring of 1972 with Toledo, the Tigers' Triple-A club, then was sent to Double-A Montgomery (Ala.) where he would be able to pitch more often.

"That summer was a nightmare," Fisher recalled. "When they sent me to Montgomery they said I would probably be back up in a couple of weeks, but my pitching began to fall apart."

HE STRUGGLED WITH a 2-11 mark with the Rebels and was demoted back to Rocky Mount, where he went 2-2.

Toledo decided to give him another chance and he lost his only decision in a two-week

Ohio stay. His bags packed again, he was shipped out to Eugene, Ore., of the Pacific League and posted a 3.00 ERA.

This spring he made a favorable impression not only on the Tigers at their Lakeland training camp, but the Philadelphia Phillies.

"Philadelphia wanted to buy me, and since Detroit didn't want to get rid of me they put me on the big league roster," said Fisher. "If they hadn't, I would have been open for trade since I had been in the minors for three years."

He was cut from the big club's pitching staff on the last day of camp and sent back to Montgomery. "I felt good there, pitching two back-to-back shutouts — a four hitter and a two-hitter," he said.

"I went 23 innings without giving up any runs or walks and just 11 hits."

AND THEN IT happened.

"I guess it was about May 15," he recalled rather bitterly. "My arm really started bothering me — I don't know why. I might have been twisting off my curve or screwball too hard and hurt the elbow.

"I pitched with the bad arm for seven innings that day and could barely move it by the seventh. I should have told the manager (Fred Hatfield) about it earlier but didn't. I guess I wanted to go a complete game and not have to rely on the bullpen.

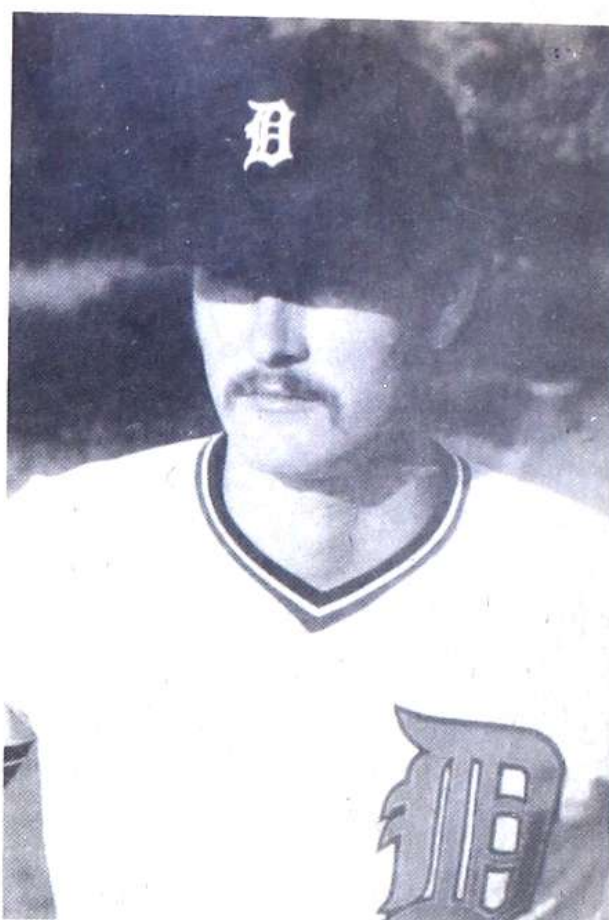

"I was trying to be a 'good guy.' That was the last time I pitched."

Fisher said he rested his arm for about six weeks, then was flown back to Detroit for sessions with the Tigers' trainer and physician. Finally, they decided to operate.

"I THINK THE CHANCES of the arm being 100 per cent are real good," he said.

"Detroit isn't worried at all. I guess this happens to a lot of young pitchers and they know how to handle it.

"Of course I'm pretty concerned, but the doctors say it'll heal fine."

AN UNCERTAIN TIGER — 1968 Wayne Memorial graduate Frank Fisher, a pitcher in the Detroit Tiger farm system, is optimistic — but uncertain — about his future as a professional baseball player after a recent operation for removal of calcium and bone chips in his pitching arm.

In Romulus ladies league

Kid Power throttles Odd Squad for title

Kid Power, the regular season champion of the Romulus Ladies Softball League, streaked to the league's playoff throne with a convincing 20-5 thrashing of the Odd Squad Saturday at the junior high school diamond.

The victory not only made Kid Power the undisputed league king, but by being both the league and playoff winner the team was also declared city champion. Had another team won the playoffs, it and Kid Power would have squared off in a series to decide the city champion.

VICKY GRAY WAS on the mound for Kid Power against the Odd Squad, and not only held the losers to just five runs, but slugged a solo home run to boot.

Tarcia Gray, Kim Pitts and Vet Casey had equally satisfying performances at the plate for Kid Power, stroking three hits apiece in the romp. Priscilla Gray also punched a homer for the champs off loser Cindy Hood.

For the Odd Squad, Debbie Wilcox' three hits were tops, and Bert Sterling and Pat Holcomb had two each.

In earlier playoff action, the Roadrunners finally won a game, their first in seven league and three playoff contests. The Seekers were the victims, bowing 13-9.

DONNA BIALAS AND Gail Nohovig exploded for five hits each in a 26 hit Roadrunner attack. Eunice Curry, Karol Pasekel and Linda Curry had three singles off losing pitcher Val Newcomb.

Winner Eunice Curry gave up a trio of hits to Dorothy Clark and two to Pauline Taylor.

The City Hall Gals out-slugged the Kel Joys, 15-12, as the foursome of Rose Booth, Diane Summerfield, Silvia Dubisky and JoAnn Hopson ripped five hits each — or 20 between them. Summerfield also clouted a homer, as did Angie Hicks. The Kel Joys' Sharon Bogetta had the losers' lone round-tripper.

Betty Boschma, Cindy Nixon and Cathy Galinski led the Kel Joys with three hits each. Rose Booth was the winner and Debbie Niemann the loser.

THE ROMULUS CITY Diamonds assembled an imposing slugging attack with four batters ripping a total of 17 hits between them, but it still wasn't enough to outlast the Ms Fits, who won 18-14.

Margaret Ayers clubbed five safeties off winner Sharon Howie and Debbie Sanders, Marilyn McNabb and Marilyn Leppen each slapped four hits. Ayers also pounded out a home run.

The winners' Nancy Gent (three hits), Cinday Crawford and Jeanne Neidermeyer (three each) did their hitting in the more opportune times, however, with the bases filled.

Jean Hoffman suffered the loss.

ROUND TRIPPER — Kid Power's Priscilla Gray (right) crosses the plate after slugging home run in the win over Odd Squad. Odd Squad catcher Peggy Reiber takes the throw from the outfield but is too late to put the tag on Gray, as the umpire watches in the background.

Spartans hold edge in series

EAST LANSING, MICH. — Michigan State holds all-time series edges over nine of the 11 opponents it will meet in football this fall.

The Spartans lead in wins over Northwestern, Syracuse, UCLA, Illinois, Purdue, Wisconsin, Ohio State, Indiana and Iowa.

The trail in overall play only to Notre Dame and Michigan.

The records with foes in the order they are met this fall are: Northwestern (12-5-0), Syracuse (6-3-0), UCLA (3-1-0), Notre Dame (15-22-1), Michigan (20-40-4), Illinois (7-5-0), Purdue (14-12-1), Wisconsin (10-7-0), Ohio State (7-6-0), Indiana (16-8-1), Iowa (5-4-1).

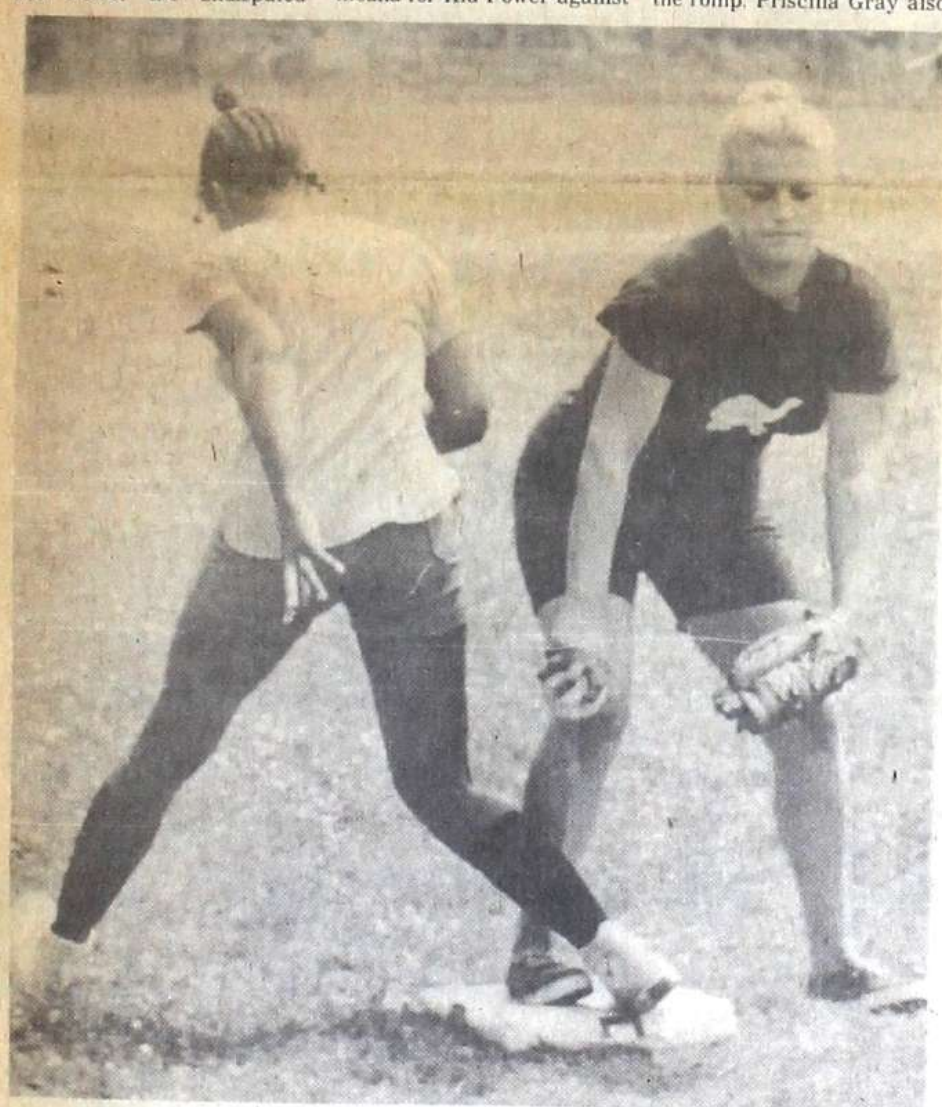

400 wins

EAST LANSING, MICH. — Michigan State's football teams will start working on their next 100 football wins this fall after gaining No. 400 in history in last season's finale.

The Spartans record in 76 campaigns stands at 400-218-36 for a winning percentage of .639.

State whipped Northwestern 24-14 in the 1972 wind-up game at East Lansing which also marked Duffy Daugherty's final time at the helm.

In terms of the last time they met each team, the Spartans were winners in seven of the rivalries. They lost to UCLA, Michigan and Notre Dame in most recent games and tied Iowa.

CAREFUL, NOW — Odd Squad third baseman Janceal Ebberline (with ball) holds Kid Power runner Vicki Gray on the bag at third. Gray had to scamper back to the base after overrunning it on a teammate's base hit. — Daily Eagle photos.

MSU staff readies

EAST LANSING, MICH. — Michigan State's football machine is warming up for a high gear start of fall drills on Monday, Aug. 27.

Coach Denny Stolz and his assistants have just moved back into an enlarged and redecorated suit of offices. A classroom adjacent to the old Jensen gymnasium suite was made over into two large conference rooms, one for the offensive platoon and one for the defense. Vacations are ending and those coaches here now are involved in daily meetings.

Preparing student lunches requires full-scale program

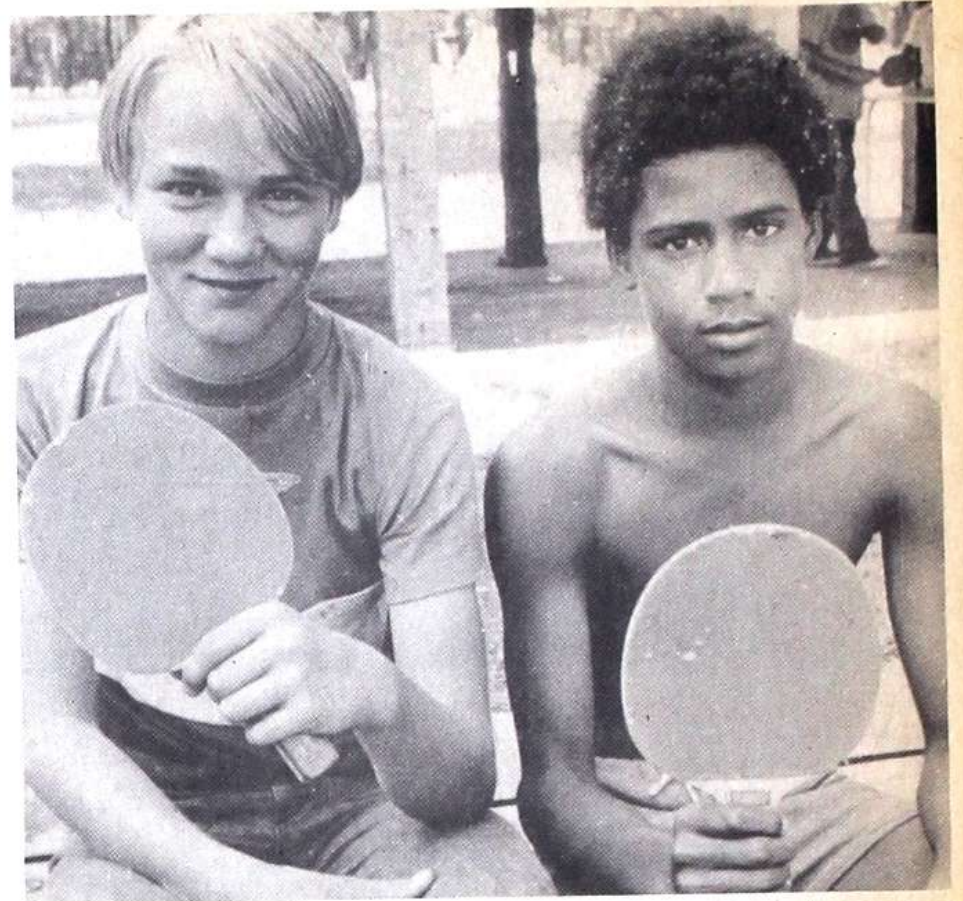

By Henry Cantin
One of the major activities in the operation of the Van Buren Public School District during the school year is its school lunch program. The realization of the district's lunch program being an operation of sizeable magnitude is reflected in last year's operational report of the school program in effect at the district's 10 schools. The program employs 40 full and part time persons working a total of 239 hours a day and one food service supervisor. They served 5,350 meals (including 250 adult meals) at the senior and junior high schools last year. The meals were divided into 3,000 Type-A meals and 2,100 ala carte meals. Last year's payroll according to Irvin Von Destinon, the business manager amounted to $159,000. Total revenue was $460,000 which consisted of 360,000 from students and others and a state-federal subsidy of $100,000 Von Destinon said. Type - A lunches are served at the cost of 40 cents in the elementary schools and 50 cents at both junior and senior high schools. An idea of the food supplies purchased for the school lunch program is shown in the following purchases made in the 1972-73 school year: pre-cooked hamburger patties for the ala carte lunches, 96,000 pieces, ground beef, 15,000 pounds; pre-cooked fish (squares and stix) 10,000 pounds; hot dogs, 6,000 pounds; corn, 500 cases or 10,000 cans; green beans, 500 cases; milk-white and chocolate, 1,070,000 one half pints; pizza 47,000 pieces.

THE CHAMPS—John Bell (left) and Richard Morrison were the two champions of Romulus' table tennis tournament going into Friday's field day activities. Morrison, 14, emerged the winner in a play off with the 13-year-old Bell. To reach the finals, Bell conquered challengers from the south area of the city, including recreation program participants at the Harrison, Merriman, Mt. Pleasant and Hayti Elementary Schools. Prior to beating Bell, Morrison faced challenges from players of the Beverly, Romulus, Cory and Gordonier Elementary Schools.

With pollution controls

Take care starting cars

All cars since 1968 have been equipped with some type of emission control equipment to reduce air pollution. The 1973 models and the engines are especially sensitive during the warm-up periods, according to auto experts. The more sophisticated emission controls and resulting carburetor settings on the new models make the warm-up period more difficult.

After starting a cold engine, let it idle for several minutes before venturing out into fast-moving traffic. It may require as much as five minutes to reach operating temperature. Each car is different so experience will determine the time needed.

Failure to warm up new model cars may result in engine hesitation, poor acceleration and even stalling when attempting to move into a line of fast-moving cars, the expert said. Once the engine has reached operating temperature, however, it should perform normally.

On older model cars, idling the engine to warm it up is a waste of gasoline.

Social Security check to be delivered early

Social security checks for retirement, disability, and August will be delivered on Sept. 1 this year, which is "unusually early," according to social security officials.

"Checks for a given month are usually delivered on the third of the following month," a social security spokesman said. "When the third falls on a day mail isn't delivered - a Sunday or a national holiday - the checks are usually delivered a day ahead, the second of the month."

"This year September 2 is a Sunday and September 3 is Labor Day; so social security checks will be delivered on Saturday the 1st. It doesn't happen very often," he said. Social security pays more than $4 billion a month in GOOD PITCHING STANCE — Little Charlie Martin (not to be confused with Tiger manager Billy Martin) warms up his kickball throwing arm for a big pitch at Cory Elementary School. Charley participated with other Romulus preschoolers in a summer program sponsored by the Cory School Parent-Teacher Association. The program was held two hours a day, two days a week over a fourweek period.

For area residents

Romulus program offers activities

Romulus Continuing Education will offer a variety of activities for area residents beginning the week of Sept. 17. More than 1200 people participated in last year's programs and attendance is expected to increase during the 1973-74 school year.

Adult high school is the most popular of activities and features free day and night classes for adults who have yet to graduate from high school. Traditional classes such as history, government, math and English are offered as well as elective courses such as shorthand, art, typing, journalism, child development and drafting.

John Domas, adult counselor, urges adults to find out how soon they can graduate by calling 941-1600, ext. 37.

HIGH SCHOOL credit can be awarded for such things as work experience, community involvement, correspondence classes and apprenticeship programs. Students may register during the day at the board of education offices, 36540 Grant Rd. or at the senior high after Sept. 4, from 7-9 p.m. All adult students should be registered by Sept. 17, the first day of classes.

Another aspect of continuing education is a series of hobby and crocheting, yoga and cake decorating, new classes will include women's self-defense, co-ed volleyball, home repairs and vegetarian cooking.

Enrichment classes for youth include safety classes in hunting and snowmobiling, creative dancing and guitar.

Registration information for these activities is located in the fall brochure of continuing education programs to be mailed to Romulus residents about Sept. 1.

OTHER PROGRAMS described in the brochure are adult pre-high school, English for the foreign-born, adult driver's training, community college and GED (high school equivalency) preparation classes.

Information regarding all continuing education programs can be obtained by contacting William Smith, community school director, at the board of education offices, 941-1600 ext. 37.

Seniors to obtain added tax relief

Senior citizens will get additional property tax relief under a new measure which recently passed both houses of the legislature. Seniors will be allowed to file for property tax money back on their state income tax returns.

Property taxes paid in excess of the limit for Senior citizen's income will be refunded in a check sent with the allotment for state income taxes, according to the bill.

The state will refund all property taxes paid by persons with income below $3,000 all but one per cent for persons with incomes between $3,000 and $4,000, two per cent for those with incomes between $4,000 and $5,000, 3 per cent for those with incomes between $5,000 and $6,000 and 3.5 per cent for all over $6,000.

In the past, seniors had to make a trip each year to the city assessor's office to file an application for tax relief, and many seniors did not know about possible tax relief, according to Garden City Mayor James Lowe.

They will simply have to fill out the normal state income tax form to receive the tax exemption.

Veterans entitled to tax relief also will save themselves an annual trip to the city offices.

The veteran who qualifies for a $3,500 homestead exemption and has a $10,000 State Equalized Value homestead will receive a tax credit of 35 per cent of the taxes he pays. Whatever the homestead exemption is, this amount is divided by the State Equalized Value of the home to get the rebate percentage

MD Drive success in Romulus area

The Romulus Chairman of the Muscular Dystrophy Drive said more than $1,419 has been collected.

The chairman is Miss Elvera A. Fischer. She has been chairman for 14 years. Miss Fischer wishes to extend special thanks and appreciation to the Romulus Progressive Club for their generous gift.

She also acknowledges the efforts of the woman who graciously contributed time on June 5, in the house-to-house campaign.

The personal donations received from friends, the employees from Romulus City Hall, Water Department, Department of Public Works, Department of Urban Renewal, to business places that help to display the canister also are appreciated in the fight to conquer the dire effects of muscular dystrophy.

Student honored

Harper Hospital School of Nursing has awarded diplomas to 76 women including a Belleville and a Romulus resident, making them eligible to become registered nurses.

Judith Diane Dugas of 153 S. Biggs St., Belleville; and Patricia Anne Harkness of 30021 Prescott Rd., Romulus, received their diplomas from George E. Cartmill, president of Harper Hospital, Detroit.

The tutorial program, which was established in 1969, gives selected candidates eight weeks of pre-entrance remedial work in basic learning skills at no expense to the students and with members of the faculty volunteering their services along with the assistance of an expert in remedial education.

Museum to name curator

Kenneth M. Wilson, chief curator of the Corning Museum of Glass at the Corning Glass Center in Corning, New York, will assume the duties of Director of Collections and Preservation at Dearborn's Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum on Nov. 15.

In his new position Wilson will direct the operations of the conservation laboratories, the Decorative Arts Department, the registrar's office, the Mechanical Arts Department and the Robert H. Tannahill Memorial Library. Wilson has been at the Corning Museum of Glass for the past 10 years. Prior to his work at Corning, he served at Old Sturbridge Village in Massachusetts as chief curator for six years, and as assistant curator for two years. He was also Curator of the Delaware State Museum for four years.

Area girl honored

The Baylor University, Waco, Texas, has cited the academic achievement of a Belleville area student who is attending the university.

Cynthia L. Hook, a freshman and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Hook, 42781 Savage Rd., Belleville was named to the dean's distinguished list of students.

Ms. Hook, who is majoring in music education at the university, is a 1972 graduate of Belleville Senior High School.

Garden club gives pitch for ecology

The Huron Valley Garden Club is campaigning against litter in the Belleville-Van Buren Township area. The garden club with a membership of Belleville area residents meets monthly in homes of various members. The campaign in behalf of ecology was sparked at the club's recent meeting.

Ecology is coming to homebuilding. On the horizon are attractive houses made of recycled glass, metal and paper from ordinary litter, according to a club statement. "This is just another example of the environmental miracles coming our way to conserve the nation's resources. Meanwhile, let's be sure to put all litter where it should go first, into a proper container," the club advises. The club officials recommend a litter container as an ideal traveling companion in the car for three good reasons. It takes up so little room, it doesn't talk back and it helps to leave beauty, not litter. The club discussed a new environmental device — a ballistic separator. It's a wheel that hurls trash horizontally so it can be separated by blasts of up and down air into light and heavy materials for recycling. Club suggests tying a string around the finger for a few days as a reminder not to litter. "You'll find it's a good way to get into the habit of holding litter for a proper container. It's your town. Let's us keep it clean," the club advises.

BOAT LAUNCHING RAMP CLOSED—Van Buren Township has closed a boat launching ramp it has operated on state-owned land located at the south end of Belleville Lake near Haggerty Road and Alden Drive. The township's one year lease has expired and presently lacks responsibility for the boat ramp. In addition the township has no one at present to take care of the site, but is hopeful of assuming ownership in the near future. Meanwhile the township has dug a four to six foot deep trench at the boat launching ramp to prevent entry.

PANELING MADE EASY—Special plastic adhesive is applied to furring strips (bottom) and held there for a second or two, preparatory to installation of panels (top).

Simple steps ensure long life for flowers

Simple handling steps can ensure a longer life for your flowers.

Before cutting, choose flowers that aren't fully opened. They will have a longer life span than those already blooming.

Cut flowers early in the morning or late in the afternoon because their stems are full of water. The stems should be cut at a slant with a sharp knife or shears.

ALL BROKEN and bruised parts of the stem should be removed along with the foliage from the lower one-third to one-half of the stem.

Immediately after cutting, place the flowers in warm water (110 degrees F.) for about two hours. After the two hour period, you can arrange the flowers.

Selecting a clean and suitable container for your flowers will prevent the growth of bacteria. When bacteria multiplies, it prevents the water from going up the stem, causing the flowers to wilt.

You can obtain a flower preservative from your florist that can prevent bacterial and fungicide growth.

FLOWERS ENJOY a cool spot at night. And during the day, avoid placing the arrangements near drafts, radiators, direct sunlight or electric lights because it speeds up the transpiration process.

Rescue measures are possible for flowers that begin to wilt prematurely. Begin by making a slanting cut an inch from the end of the stem, place the flowers in very hot water for a few minutes and then into very cold water for a few minutes.

This first aid treatment pushes any air bubbles out of the stem and the cold water perks up the flowers. But it won't save flowers that have wilted for several hours.

For grass Autumn seeding recommended

By far the best time of year to seed cool-season lawngresses — the Kentucky bluegrasses, fine fescues, bentgrasses, and perennial rye grasses — is autumn. Good weather, a promising season ahead, and a more relaxed job schedule, then, combine to make autumn ideal for both new lawn seedings or for bolstering thin turfs.

All of these grasses thrive on the bright, crisp weather that usually prevails during autumn. The soil should be dry enough to cultivate nicely, making a good seedbed.

Cultivating the soil before seeding helps the new lawn to a good start. Mix fertilizer amply into the soilbed, at the rate recommended on the bag (typically 10-20 lbs-1000 sq. ft.). Acid soils may need liming. A mechanical spreader distributes seed neatly.

IT WILL BE useful later for maintenance fertilizations and spreading of pesticides. A surface mulch to prevent drying rounds out the new seeding.

Only time (and enough watering to keep the soilbed moist) then stands between you and a cheerful carpet of green.

If soil cultivation is not feasible, perhaps your tired turf can be renovated merely by scuffing its surface ahead of overseeding.

Paneling made easier Adhesive cuts nail use down

If you've decided to fix up that space in the basement into a neat little game room by covering the concrete block walls with 4-by-8-foot finished wood panels, here are some tips to make your job easier:

First, by using a modern adhesive you can cut the nailing required by 75 per cent, and at the same time do a better, neater job in less time than if you nailed up the whole job.

One of these adhesives, a plastic compound, can be used throughout the paneling operation.

IT DOES NOT pull the panel tightly against studs that may be out of line, which would cause the wall to be wavy. Rather, it shims up to three-eighth inch before it sets to keep the paneled wall even.

Second, since block walls are usually irregular, it is recommended that you install furring strips to which the panels will be attached. You can purchase four-inch wide straight furring strips at a lumber store. Also be sure basement walls are dry and any painted surface firm.

If you don't plan to also use insulation between the basement wall and paneling, then proceed to install the furring strips.

Apply them vertically to the wall four feet apart, center to center, starting from the corner. Subdivide every four feet by placing intermediate strips 16 inches, center to center.

APPLY A three-eighth-inch bead of adhesive to the back of each strip and press firmly against the block. On "high" points where the block surface rises, nail the strip with a masonry nail. On low points, the adhesive will stretch to fill the gap and set to form a firm base.

You can begin paneling after 24 hours. It's a good idea during this period to condition panels to moisture conditions in room by stacking, face out, against wall. Follow these suggested steps when paneling:

Step 1 — Come out from one corner four feet and draw a plumb line down the furring strip center by using a straight edge or chalk line.

Step 2 — Trim and fit the first panel so that the butt edge will be even with the plumb line. Sight along the wall and mark all low furring strips, which are those not visible along your line of sight, or use a straight edge to spot out-of-line strips.

Step 3 — Apply 1/4-inch-high bead down the center of furring strips that are in line and three-eighth-inch bead on low strips. Apply adhesive to only those strips covered by the first panel. Apply the bead on the furring strip, where two panels will butt together, inside the center line so as to avoid squeeze out.

Step 4 — Now pivot the panel from the plumb line to the corner and even it with plumb line. Fasten with three or four finishing nails at top and bottom where molding will cover them.

Step 5 — Press panel at all furring strip areas into adhesive, holding just a second. When released, panel will spring out from low studs, but will be firmed up by the adhesive when it sets. Do not press more than once.

Step 6 — Pivot succeeding panel from butt stud in opposite direction and follow same procedure for fastening. Repeat steps three through five for the remainder of the panels.

Step 7 — To level butt edges that bow out, use a small block wood held with a finishing nail driven into the joint. Allow adhesive to set for 24 to 48 hours before removing blocks.

Improve your HOME

Step 8 — Finish off the job with molding.

If you plan to install foam insulation (it is recommended for walls below grade), the recommended procedure is somewhat different. The following steps are suggested:

Step 1 — Start as before by coming out four feet from the corner and installing a furring strip, but do not install the intermediate strips. Use strips the same thickness as the foam insulation and apply them to the wall with 1/4-inch bead of adhesive (three-eighth-inch on irregular surfaces).

Step 2 — Cut foam sheet to fit between furring strips set four feet apart and chip off excessive mortar.

Step 3 — Apply adhesive to the back of the foam using a 1/4-inch bead on polystyrene foam and a three-eighth-inch

Deck offers variety

What could be a nicer way to start the day than with breakfast served on a sunny deck, washed with fresh air and surrounded by shrubs and plants?

During the day, this same setting is refreshing for a coffee break or visiting with friends who stop by. In the evening, it's a perfect spot for relaxing before sitting down to an informal outdoor meal.

With all these activities related to food preparation and service, the natural spot for such a deck is off the kitchen, or near to it.

OFF A U-SHAPED kitchen and adjoining family room, one family added a patio deck that's intimate enough for dinner-for-two yet large enough for spill-over entertaining.

The deck is expanded visually with two by four inch decking of fir extending out from the sliding glass doors of the kitchen to a seven-foot screen of spaced, vertical two by twos along the far edge of the deck.

The screen, offering relief from the afternoon sun, is set on posts and beams of six by six inch fir. The six by six also extend around the deck as railings.

Flowers, shrubs and small trees in pots or planter boxes lend a comfortable mood to the deck. Planters are easily built of western cedar lumber to fit in with the deck decor.

LARGE PLANTERS with pine, fir or a Japanese split leaf maple can be mounted on a platform of two by four inch lumber and casters, allowing it to be shifting to find the proper combination of wind and sunshine, and to move it out of the way when entertaining.

Movable or built-in wood benches on a deck are particularly well-suited for displaying bonsai trees, as the natural color and texture of the wood complements the strong, aged appearance of the bonsai.

DECK — For breakfast, lunch or dinner, charming deck off kitchen offers restful setting. Deck of two-by-four-inch fir on edge extends from kitchen doors to screen of spaced two-twos, set on posts and beams of six-by-six inch fir.

bead on other foams. Apply adhesive around perimeter and vertically approximately 16 inches, center to center, between furring strips. Press foam into place and allow to set for 24 hours. On highly irregular walls, apply adhesive in same pattern but on the wall and use a 1/4-inch bead on high areas.

Step 4 — Fit panels so they have a one-sixteenth-inch wide space at the point where they butt in center of furring strips. Apply 1/4-inch bead of adhesive to furring strip, again inside center to avoid squeeze-out. Now apply 1/4-inch beads on foam itself if it is straight.

Step 5 — Position panel and press firmly against each framing member using both hands at top and hip and knee at bottom. Two or three small finishing nails at top and bottom are usually adequate to hold this panel if it is straight.

Step 6 — If panel bows out at edges, use a wood block pierced in center with a wire brad as a leveling device at that point. Remove after adhesive has set overnight.

MSU offers range of classes

Area adults can make their evenings pay off in career advancement, broader personal horizons and in thwarting loneliness or anonymity.

Michigan State University (MSU) will offer 70 university-level, non-credit evening college courses, especially for adults, beginning in late September.

If past experience is an indication, seven of 10 enrollees will be women, and more than half will be in the 20-29 age group.

THEY WILL include teachers, clerks, secretaries, managers, administrators, homemakers, retirees, university faculty, students and staff and their spouses, a college spokesman said.

The evening college offers a good way for the high school or college-educated to keep up with a changing technological society, according to Dr. Charles McKee, director.

These informal, non-credit courses can provide a bridge to the academic or business world for one whose education has been interrupted or career relinquished, he points out.

Evening college courses touch on many fields of interest—business, investment, health, recreation, environment, personal improvement, literature, music, art, hobbies, languages, history, the contemporary scene and public affairs, including changes in world politics.

PEOPLE DRIVE to MSU for the courses—most of which meet just one night each week—from cities as far away as Detroit, Pontiac, Flint, Jackson and Battle Creek.

A brochure listing fall evening college courses, taught by university faculty and guest lecturers in a university setting, will be available in late August or early September.

A copy may be obtained by writing the evening college office, 19 Kellogg Center for Continuing Education, MSU, East Lansing 48823.

Braille publications available to residents

Braille editions of five social security publications are available to blind people, according to social security officials.

The publications are "Estimating Your Social Security Retirement Check," "Disability Benefits for Blind People," "Your Medicare Handbook," "Your Social Security" and "If You Become Disabled."

They are available at rehabilitation centers, regional libraries of congress, schools, state agencies, and national organizations for the blind.

"For specific information on where to get Braille editions of social security publications, write, visit, or call any social security office," a spokesman said.

Police issue tickets

The Van Buren Police Department with the assistance of park rangers issued 103 traffic violation tickets in the township during July.

Only 51 tickets were paid at the township's violation bureau.

Township police officers worked 440 road man hours and a total of 174 special duty hours during the month.

The police officers spent 85 hours on radar patrol and 39 hours at the township's recent rodeo sponsored by the Valley Conservation Club.

Lawrence Tech registration set

Registration for both day and evening college will begin Aug. 21, at the Lawrence Institute of Technology.

Interviews with new students have started to allow sufficient time for the arrival of high school transcripts and other data.

Offices are open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. at Northwestern and 10 Mile in Southfield.

Classes in the evening college will begin Sept. 5 in advance of the day college which starts Sept. 10.

Lawrence is one of the few colleges in the United States which offers planned and scheduled bachelor of science degree work entirely in its evening college. The work is identical to that offered in the day college but is completed in six instead of four years. The evening college classes are held Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights while the day college operates five days per week.

Bachelor of science degrees are granted in architecture; mechanical, electrical and construction engineering; physics; chemistry; mathematics; computer science; industrial management; accounting and other fields.

Also offered are associate degree programs in various technologies on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

These are : building construction, computer, electrical and electrical, chemical, industrial supervision, and mechanical. Preparing students as technicians, these courses take 3 1/2 years to complete.

Nominations are being accepted for 1974 American Motors Conservation Awards.

The Conservation Awards program was initiated by American Motors in 1953 to honor individuals and non-profit organizations for outstanding efforts in conservation of the nation's natural resources. The 1974 presentations will mark the award program's twentieth anniversary year.

CMU honors area grads

Two students from the Belleville area were awarded degrees at Central Michigan University's spring commencement ceremonies.

They are Connie S. Foster, 7125 Edwards Rd. who studied history and Timothy R. Smith, 10644 Quirk Rd., who studied social science.

Spring commencement ceremonies were held in the university's new Short Stadium, Dr. Barbara Newell, president of Wellesley College, was the commencement speaker.

Twenty awards will be presented, each consisting of $500 and an engraved bronze plaque. They will go to 10 professional conservationists employed by nonprofit organizations and to 10 non-professionals, whose conservation efforts are a voluntary expression of good citizenship.

Also, additional awards of $500 each will be made to national and local nonprofit organizations in recognition of achievements in special conservation projects.

Nominations should go to American Motors Conservation Awards Committee, Detroit, 48232, by Nov. 1.

Fire runs tallied

Van Buren Township's Fire Department No. 1, located in downtown Belleville responded to 10 fire runs during the month of July, Bert G. Smith, department secretary, reported.

CITY OF BELLEVILLE
COUNCIL MINUTES

REGULAR MEETING AUGUST 6, 1973

A regular meeting of the City Council for the City of Belleville, County of Wayne, and State of Michigan, was called to order by Mayor Smith, with Councilmen Palmer, Boone and Hamlin present. Councilman Amerman absent.

Motion by Councilman Boone, seconded by Councilman Hamlin that Councilman Amerman be excused from this meeting.

Carried: Unanimously.

Motion by Hamlin, seconded by Boone, that the minutes of the regular meeting held July 16, 1973 be approved.

Carried: Unanimously.

Permit application No. 76785-76793 from Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. was received.

Motion by Boone, seconded by Palmer, that the permit application from Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. be referred to Wade Trim & Assoc., Inc., City Engineers, for their study and recommendations.

Carried: Unanimously.

Also present at the Council meeting was Raymond Gehl, of Wade Teim & Assoc., Inc., City Engineers, Henry Graper, Urban Renewal Director, Lester Corzine, Edward Ellward, Gary Koeppel, Leonard Bourdeau, Anthony Talaga, Mr. Harden, Julie Jurinic, Linda Clayton, Frank Prais, Darwin Kureth, Stanley Stawinski, Al Rizzo, Virginia Rizzo, Rae Thom, Bud Teddor, Ted Hooten, Shirley Cullin, Mr. Szuch, Art Monke, Chester Baker, William Warner and Mrs. Anthony Sam.

Letter was received from Wade, Trim & Assoc., Inc., City Engineers, regarding Michigan Bell Telephone Co. Job on Savage Road.

Motion by Hamlin, seconded by Palmer, that the permit application from Michigan Bell Telephone Co. on the Job on Savage Road, be approved, subject to specifications in the letter from the City Engineers, and the Clerk is instructed to advise the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. that they will be billed for all Engineering Fees.

Carried: Unanimously.

Letter was received from Van Buren Township Engineers regarding a 30" Sewer proposed to be attached to the downriver 30" interceptor at its present terminus on Savage Road near Liberty Street in the City of Belleville; this letter will be placed on file pending recommendations of the City Engineers.

Plans were also submitted regarding the 30" sanitary sewer line from Van Buren Township.

Motion by Boone, seconded by Palmer, that the plans received from Van Buren Township regarding the 30" sanitary sewer be referred to the City Engineer for their study and recommendations.

Carried: Unanimously.

Letter was received from Michigan State Highways regarding Wheelchair ramps and curb cuts. Letter was placed on file.

Motion by Hamlin, seconded by Boone, that the Police Activities report for July, 1973 be placed on file.

Carried: Unanimously.

Letter was received from Michigan School Bus Service, Inc. regarding the Paving program for Davis St. due to traffic of School Buses (276 one way trips each school day) they are asking for a usable completion date of September 1, 1973 which would be prior to the opening of school. The City Council assured that consideration would be taken.

Letter was received from the Belleville Community Players, in need of space for rehearsal and material storage. The Mayor and City Council advised that at the present time the City has no space available, but the request would be placed on file and if anything comes up the Belleville Community Players will be contacted.

Letter from Zion Missionary Church, was received regarding the paving program. The request for fill and grade of a parking lot will be provided, but however, the request that an additional driveway be put into the plans, will have to be charged to the Zion Missionary Church paving assessment.

8:00 P.M. Bids were received and opened for the purchase of a 1973 3/4 ton pick up.

Motion by Palmer, seconded by Hamlin, that both bids be rejected, and that the City of Belleville re-advertise for sealed bids and ask for Firm bid prices. Specifications available at the Clerk's Office, bids to be opened August 20, 1973 at 8 p.m.

Carried: Unanimously.

Motion by Palmer, seconded by Boone, that recommendations from the City Engineers regarding Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. Job 2079 in Columbia Ave at Belmont Manor Apartments, be approved, providing that when the existing 2-inch gas main is cut and capped, no live portion of gas main remains over the existing water main and the Clerk by instructed to advise Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. of same, and all Engineering fees to be billed to the Gas Co.

Carried: Unanimously.

Various Citizens of the Belleville Area were present and discussed with the Mayor and City Council, the problem of the youths in the area, and the Destruction of Property of the business places in the City of Belleville.

The Mayor and City Council assured all concerned that the matter was being looked into, and a solution to the problem was being worked on.

Motion by Palmer, seconded by Boone, that the meeting be adjourned.

Carried: Unanimously.

THANK YOU Romulusites who got out and voted in the important city primary election; and thanks, too, to those who supported me both inside the voting booth and outside the polling place. Shame on those who decided not to exercise their election franchise. Now take it upon yourself to educate yourself to the qualities of the 14 council candidates and administrative officials for the November city election. For Romulus is fast coming into the 21st century and just out of a township form of government. We need people with foresight to help us grow into it correctly.
